BUTLER'S POSITION UNCHANGED.

[OFFICIAL.]

Grant's Flank Movement so far Successful—Advices from Gens. Canby and Sherman—Nothing from Butler.

War Department,
Washington, May 22—10 P. M.

To Major-Gen. Dix :

On Friday morning, Gen. Grant commenced a movement for the purpose of compelling Lee to abandon his position at Spottsylvania (the details of which, for obvious reasons, should not be made public.) It has thus far progressed successfully.

Longstreet's corps started South at one o'clock on Friday night, an hour and a half after Hancock moved. Ewell's corps followed Longstreet last night. The indications are that the rebel army has fallen back beyond the North Anna.

Hoke's brigade has joined Lee.

The movement of Gen. Grant has thus far been accomplished without any severe engagement or serious interruption.

We now occupy Gurney's Station, Mulford Station, and south of the Mattapony on that line.

A dispatch received this morning from Gen. Canby, dated May 14, at the mouth of the Red Rivers, says: "We have rumors, to-day, from rebel sources that the gunboats, except two, succeeded in getting over the falls at Alexandria on the day mentioned in Gen. Bank's dispatch."

No dispatches have been received to-day from Gen Butler.

Dispatches from Kingston, Georgia, state that Gen. Sherman's forces are resting and replenishing their supplies.

Secretary of War.

Gen. Sherman's Progress—He is Replenishing Supplies at Kingston—Capture of Iron Foundries at Rome—Late News from Gen. Banks—More Fighting in Butler's Army—A Hard Battle on Friday.

Washington, Saturday, May 21, 1864—9:50 P. M.

To Major-Gen. Dix :

Dispatches from Gen. Sherman state that our forces found in Rome a great deal of provisions and seven fine iron works and machine shops. We have secured two good bridges and an excellent ford across the Etowah. The cars are now arriving at Kingston with stores, and two days would be given to replenish and fit up.

A dispatch just received from Gen. Banks, dated at Alexandria, the 8th of May, states that the dam will be completed to-morrow, (May 9,) and the gunboats relieved. He would then move immediately for the Mississippi. Gen. Canby was at the mouth of the Red River on the 14th of May, collecting forces to assist Banks, if necessary.

Dispatches from Gen. Butler, dated at 10 o'clock last night, report that he had "been fighting all day, the enemy endeavoring to close in on our lines. We shall hold on. Have captured the rebel Gen. Walker, of the Texas troops."

EDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

No Fighting Since Thursday—Important Movements Going on.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

Washington, Saturday, May 21.

No fighting since the rebel attack on our communications with Fredericksburgh on Thursday. There is reason to believe, however, that the movements of yesterday and to-day will be speedily found productive of important results.

FROM SPOTTSYLVANIA COURT-HOUSE.

Topographical Features—Wednesday's Battle.

Correspondence of the Washington Chronicle.

In the Field, Wednesday, May 18, 1864.

The centre is the key of our present position From Ny Run the ground, by a succession of gradations, reaches a very commanding height, and plainly overlooks a large field of open country, which is begirt on all sides by a heavy second growth of pines, intermingled with dwarf cedars.

Mordecai Gayle's large house is between our first and second lines of fortifications. Monday and Tuesday the headquarters of the signal corps were here, while the plantation adjoining, known as Frank Beverly's, was used for a similar purpose by Gen. Warren and staff. Every one fled from these places upon the approach of the hateful but dreaded Yankees.

About twilight, on Monday evening, our batteries near the road shelled the woods in their front, but failed to elicit any response. Monday, tranquillity prevailed. The Ninth Corps (Burnside's) held the right. Warren had the Fifth Corps next, and was joined by Wright with the Sixth Corps, Hancock being on the extreme left. In the afternoon of Tuesday, the Fourth Division of the Fifth Corps marched from their trenches where they had been lying all day. No notice had been taken of this movement by the enemy, at least they betrayed no signs of concern. Many retired that night very much deceived. Next morning I was aroused by the whizzing of shells, and discovered the position of every command changed. The Second Corps had passed to the extreme right, under cover of the night. They bivouacked in the fortifications from whence, only a few nights before, they took such a large number of prisoners.

It was four o'clock A. M., when the skirmishers advanced. The rebels were there armed and vigilant. Both sides opened with cannon. Smoke and mist hung pale, heavy, and motionless over the troops. On the right was Gibbons' First Division. The Irish Legion had just joined them. They had seen some service on the Blackwater and Nansemond Rivers, near Suffolk, during the investment of the place by Longstreet, but had never known the reality of a battle.

On the right, the Irish Legion charged with a fierce, wild shout. Two hundred yards of clear field had to be traversed before the first line of the enemy's breastworks could be reached; a battery of four brass pieces played on our men incessantly as they advanced on a double-quick. All this time the sharpshooters were busy; sufficient light was lacking to enable them to sight their pieces with precision, but many an officer owes his death to their marksmanship.

At last the field is crossed. The distance was short—only two hundred yards. Who does not believe it seemed a lifetime to many of those men, who, with bent body and erect bayonet, won their perilous way, foot by foot, through whistling balls, bursting shells, gnawing grape. The rebels fly from the first intrenched line. Our brave fellows clamber over cheerily, and capture a few dilatory sharpshooters, who lingered too long at their post. About midway between the first and second parallels, the line of the legion grows confused—their pace waxes slow by degrees, and finally halts, preparatory to breaking—to retreating.

They did fall back a short distance, but the veterans of the old First and Second Divisions were at hand. They took no notice of confusion, and heeded the driving bullets no more than a pelting rain. Through the pines they ran, with fixed bayonets, searching in vain for the rebels. A shout rent the air, and the second line of rebel breastworks was won.

The Second Division did nobly, never halting or faltering till the goal was gained. The entire corps did well, and can always be depended upon. Our loss in this charge must be between three and four hundred men. Two hours afterward, our batteries on either side the turnpike running from Fredericksburgh to Spottsylvania engaged in a duel with the rebel artillery. The First Pennsylvania Artillery and Battery B, Fourth United States, were engaged. Improvement has been going on among the rebel cannoniers, for they shell with greater accuracy than ever before.

From the Washington Star, May 20.

We have information through a gentleman whom we know to be entirely reliable, who left Meade's headquarters last evening, that Gen. Meade a few minutes before his departure, stated to him that our entire loss in the engagement of the day before was about five hundred in killed, wounded and missing, and stragglers, which latter include the few prisoners taken by the rebels.

This estimate of Gen. Meade's did not include Burnside's losses, which (according to information leaving the front a few hours after our informant started) amounted to one-fourth of the whole loss, bringing our loss up to six hundred and fifty, all told.

Gen. Meade was entirely satisfied with the result of the day's movement, as, while securing for us the indispensable information concerning the rebels' position and force it was designed to obtain, we inflicted a much larger loss in killed, wounded and prisoners, than we incurred.

The information obtained by the movement, doubtless caused some changes in the programme for yesterday.

There was no fighting of moment yesterday, though it is highly probable that a heavy action has taken place to day.

The Third Division of the Fifth Corps had some fighting yesterday in a reconnoissance of the rebel works beyond the Po River, and lost some in killed and wounded. The division subsequently rejoined the main army.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

Washington, Sunday, May 22.

HOSTAGES COMMITTED TO THE OLD CAPITOL PRISON.

Sixty hostages, who were arrested in Fredericksburgh, arrived in the city this morning, and were committed to the Old Capitol Prison.

DISPATCH FROM LIEUT. COMMANDER BREEZE.

The following dispatch has been received by the Navy Department:

Hon. Gideon Welles, Secretary of the Navy:

Have just received a letter from Lieut. Commander Breeze, dated at the mouth of the Black River, May 15. He writes as follows:

"This morning a bearer of dispatches from Gen. Banks was received at Fort De Russy, who says when he left, one gunboat was coming over the Falls, and it was currently believed that all would get over. He knew nothing more. I have information from a reliable source that the dam has been completed, and we may soon expect to hear that all the iron-clads are over."

DESTRUCTION OF SALT WORKS.

The Navy Department has also received a communication from the United States bark Ethan Allen, blockading off Murrill's Inlet, S. C., reporting the destruction of valuable salt-works, information being given them by contrabands of the location of the works, which were at a place called Cane Pitch, 12 miles from the inlet. Upon reaching the works an armed crew was sent ashore, who succeeded in destroying them and burning the buildings. Extensive arrangements had been made for extending the works to double their size. The pans were of cast iron, and easily broken. There were four works, each containing twelve large pans, the water being raised from the beach by horse-power, leading into a cistern large enough to contain 100,000 gallons of water. The salt was mixed with sand. When returning to the station a man was taken off the coast, who made signals to the Allen. He gave his name as Allen Jones. He says he was of North Carolina, and was a commissary sergeant in the rebel army.

AN EXPEDITION UP THE ST. JOHN'S RIVER.

A communication had also been received from the Pawnee, which says that an expedition was sent up the St. John's River, Florida, under command of Gen. Birney, and had been very successful. They did not, however, meet the enemy, supposed to have crossed at Fort Yates to the east side of the St. John's. One thousand head of cattle, some horses, and other valuable property was captured. The expedition had not returned to Jacksonville at last advices, but was expected soon to do so by way of St. Augustine.

Rebel "Facts" and Speculations—The Story of a Rebel Lieutenant.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

Headquarters in the Field, Saturday, May 21.

A rebel Lieutenant, who deserted and came into our lines on Friday, furnishes me with the following entertaining account of the condition of affairs in the rebel army. He states that the failure of Ewell in turning our right on Thursday evening was attributed to a Colonel of a Georgia regiment, who had moved his lines three hundred yards further out than ordered; thus isolating it from the main body. The object was to cut off our reinforcements coming up and gobble the train. He states that Lee's army numbered eighty to ninety thousand before the battles, and he has lost from twenty-five to twenty-eight thousand; also, that since Lee's occupation of Spottsylvania three brigades have been sent to Longstreet's corps to make up for losses; and the two brigades which he left in East Tennessee.

Last Monday Lee issued an order, which was read along the lines, that Breckinridge had defeated Sigel, capturing his whole wagon train, beside a number of prisoners, in the Shenandoah Valley. The rebels claim that they have captured 6,000 to 8,000 prisoners, not including wounded. In the third day's fight, Gen. Rousseur's brigade alone captured 2,100 of our men, for which he was complimented by Lee in a general order. He states that the rebels have plenty of provisions, and every company has its own commissary arrangements. There has been no scarcity of provisions during the fight. Forage for horses is not plenty. He says our men were purposely permitted to come into the circle of their works in Wednesday's fight, and that the slaughter in our lines was terrible, being exposed to the enfilading fire of their batteries.

Ewell confesses to a severe repulse and great disappointment in the fight of Thursday. Our gunboats, which are now at Fredericksburgh, did not find the navigation of the Upper Rappahannock an easy task. They spent eight days in going about ten miles, removing torpedoes and placing buoys as they went.

GEN. BUTLER'S ARMY.

Retrospective—What Has Been and what is Being Done—Active Work will be Kept Up—The Wounded in the Late Battle.

[The more important part of our latest letter from Gen. Butler's army, we give from yesterday's edition.]

From Our Special Correspondent.

In Camp, Tuesday Evening, May 17, 1864.

Gen. Butler's army is now taking needed rest within its strongly-intrenched position on the peninsula formed by the windings of the James and Appomattox Rivers, known as Bermuda Hundred. The troops have earned repose. Eleven of the fourteen days which have passed since they surprised all Secessia by their landing here, have witnessed active fighting. The campaign has been more than ordinarily trying. Operations have been conducted and the enemy sought in a country almost as impracticable for scientific military movements as that "Wilderness" which has confronted the Army of the Potomac. Dense woods overtopping tangled undergrowth, swift streams widening into marshes, and blind forest paths, almost uselessly narrow for artillery and cavalry, have been some of the difficulties in the way. For four of the fighting days, also, a dismal rain fell, with scarcely enough intermission to allow the drying of the clothes of the tired and unsheltered troops, who slept each night under arms in line of battle. To my mind, the endurance of physical discomforts such as these, unmurmuringly, even cheerfully, like soldiers always bear them, requires a loftier courage than that which permits a man to stand bravely up before the battle-storm. In the hour of combat, pride, and the fierce excitement of the fight, are found sufficient to make even natural cowards unmindful of fear, but it is only the stimulus of true patriotism that can keep men up to the heroic pitch of passing the long hours of a dark night, wet to the skin and exposed to the rain, with appetites unappeased, save by the inevitable hard bread and salt pork, without a whisper of complaint.

And what has been accomplished here at the expense of all this toil and the expenditure of a large number of lives? A very great deal. Gen. Butler has not marched the army up the hill Richmondward and down again. True, the outer defences of Fort Darling, on Drewry's Bluff, against which we were hammering vigorously a few days since, are now seven miles or more in advance of our present position. But what of that? We simply went up there to try the rebels' strength, and having found the works too strong to warrant our laying siege to them at present, the path of prudence was followed, and we withdrew. But the movement forward has not been devoid of grand results. There can be no doubt that the Army of the Potomac has been greatly benefited by it. This much the troops here demand to their credit. They have in front of them thirty thousand men in arms, commanded by Beauregard, who would now be swelling the cohorts of Lee had not Gen. Butler earnestly threatened the capture of Richmond from the rear. And they have accomplished yet more than this. Cutting away from their base awhile and leaving their flanks very thinly guarded, they pushed boldly out to the Petersburgh and Richmond Railroad, by destroying which the forwarding of supplies to the rebel army must have been grievously interrupted. Again, in driving the enemy to his defensive lines around Fort Darling, and keeping him there engaged, opportunity was given to Gen. Kautz and his troopers to dash through the Counties of Chesterfield, Powhatan, Amelia, Dinwiddie, Suffolk and Sussex, where damaging blows were given to the rebel sources of supply. Of this raid I shall write more fully below. Considering, then, these things that have been zealously done, I bespeak for the gallant army here a full meed of renown for its coöperative share in the success which we all feel is soon to crown the well-tried, faithful and glorious Army of the Potomac.

But neither Gen. Butler nor Gens. Smith and Gillmore, nor the subordinate Generals and the army, are willing to be content with the bright record of what has been done. They are determined to do more. There will be no rest for rebels here. They are to be kept constantly awake. To-morrow, at daylight, we go at them again. The indications this afternoon show that we will not have far to go to find them. They fill the woods just in front of us as thick as they can stand together. There was very sharp skirmishing from about 3 o'clock until near sunset, and then the artillery on our side delivered a spiteful fire. Shells tore through the woods all along our front, doubtless with a most demoralizing effect upon those for whom they were intended. I understand that the casualties on our side were very slight.

I have little to add to what was said in my letter yesterday concerning the fight on Monday. The battle was gallantly fought, and brave accounts are given of the valor of every regiment engaged. The usual tardiness, on the part of regimental officers, in sending in their reports of casualties makes it impossible to furnish the aggregate numbers of our loss. I am sorry to say, however, that it exceeds very largely the first estimate. Yesterday and today the very efficient Medical Director of the Department, Dr. Chas. McCormick, sent off nearly 1,600 of the wounded down the river, and to-morrow there are about 400 more to be dispatched. Under Dr. McCormick's direction the steamers Express, Monitor Geo. Leary, Hero of Jersey, Wyoming, Gen. Wool, City of New York, Sylvan Shore and Matilda have been fitted up with comfortable berths for the removal of the sufferers to the spacious and well-adapted hospitals near Fortress Monroe, the Balfour at Portsmouth and the Hammond General Hospital at Point Lookout. Six hundred of the patients also, have been sent to Philadelphia. On the passage down the river Dr. McCormick has seen to it that the poor fellows are supplied with lemons, oranges, ices and other things grateful and refreshing to their fevered condition. Many of the injuries are of a serious character and amputation has been frequently resorted to. The great proportion of the wounds are however of such a character that the patients are likely to return to duty in from thirty to forty days.

I mentioned a few days since that Gen. Kautz and his cavalry had started out to cut the Danville and Richmond Railroad, and we had heard of the success of his operations from the Richmond papers. Last night the expedition returned safely to City Point, having traveled over a very great distance of the enemy's territory. Moving upon the Danville road at Coalfield, within twelve miles of Richmond, they destroyed the station and also those at Powhatan and Chester, burning depots and water tanks, two freight trains and a locomotive, as well as immense quantities of commissary and other stores. Going south again, they struck the Petersburgh and Richmond Railroad at Wilson's, Wellville, Black's and White's Stations, doing a great deal of damage to the track, the depots and the switches. Rushing forward again, Gen. Kautz returned to Jarratt's Station, on the Petersburgh and Weldon Railroad, where he touched on his former raid, and burned for the second time the water tank, newly built, destroyed the rails, some of which had been re-laid, although very much twisted by the fire. At one point on the march Kautz had a fight with a superior force of the enemy, and lost several of his men—about twenty, I believe—among them Lieut. Schreiber, who was shot through the head. The expedition in the main was a success.

Major Ludlow, of Gen. Butler's staff, returned yesterday from a short expedition with 250 cavalry on the north side of the James River, in search of torpedo exploders along the banks. He went up as far as Four Mile Run, but finding the enemy in superior force, was compelled to retire. He captured a rebel Lieutenant in a skirmish, and brought him away, but lost no man himself.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

Washington, Sunday, May 22.

Last night's 7½ o'clock train through to Washington ran over three horses, five miles before Trenton, about nine o'clock, smashed the engine and tender, killed the fireman, Henry Reeves, broke the leg of the assistant fireman, Henry Masterston, threw off and partly broke up the baggage and three passenger cars. Only one of the passengers was injured, and he in the hand. The passengers were taken from the wreck by a train brought from Bordentown, at five o'clock this morning.

The Funeral of Maj.-Gen. Wadsworth.

Rochester, N. Y., Saturday, May 21.

The Evening Express, of this city, has the following special dispatch:

Geneseo, N. Y., Saturday, May 21.

The funeral of the late deeply lamented and gallant Gen. Wadsworth is now taking place in this village of his long residence.

The village shows by every outward sign the great affliction which has fallen upon it. Every place of business is closed, and funeral wreaths are hung upon the doors, balconies and windows, and the people fill the streets and doorsteps and every standpoint, from which the long and solemn procession can be viewed as it passes on its way to the humble village church and to the modest rural cemetery.

The obsequies are as unpretentious as they are solemn. The thousands who live here, and the hundreds who have come from abroad to pay the last honors to the distinguished dead, are sincere mourners. The evidence of these are too manifest to be mistaken. The delegation from Rochester numbers forty-five persons, composed of citizens who fully represent the sentiments of the people of that city toward the deceased.

The remnant of the brave Twenty-first Regiment, who served under Gen. Wadsworth in many battles, about sixty in number, have come here from Buffalo, with their regimental colors and band, and form the escort to the remains of the brave and lamented soldier.

Adjt.-Gen. Sprague, Hon. Augustus Frank, Dr. McMillen, U. S. A., and other persons of distinguished station, are also here to pay the last sad tribute to the gallant dead.

Arrival of the Newbern.

The United States supply steamer Newbern, T. A. Harris commanding, arrived at this port this morning, from the North Atlantic Blocking Squadron, and twenty-four hours from Fortress Monroe. She brings 120 prisoners from blockade-runners, steamers Tristam Shandy, Young Republic, and schooner Indian, captured off Wilmington. Rebel iron-clad North Carolina, which recently came a short distance over the Wilmington Bar, was found upon her return to leak so badly as to compel them to run her ashore to avoid sinking, and upon the falling of the tide parted amidships from her own weight. The Raleigh, her consort, is in progress of completion, but has not been considered by them as so formidable as the North Carolina.

Annexed is a list of the Newbern's officers: Acting Master and Executive Officer, R. Y. Holley; Acting Master and Coast Pilot, J. H. Richardson; Acting Assistant Surgeon, John E. Cobb; Acting Assistant Paymaster, E. H. Cushing; Captain's Clerk and Mail Agent, Thos. J. Benjamin; Paymaster's Clerk, Sidney Hanson; Acting First Assistant Engineers, Isaac Maples, John E. Cooper; Acting Third Assistant Engineers, T. C. Lomas, J. H. Biessing, J. H. Lenihan; Acting Ensigns, C. H. Lawyer, R. Dinsmore, T. G. L. Lennan; Acting Master's Mates, Adol Landergren, Joshua Cook, Jr., Jas. E. Merriman; Surgeon's Steward, Hiram L. Ellis.

The Missouri Guerrillas.

PROBABLE DEATH OF QUANTRELL.

From the St. Louis Republican, May 18.

The following dispatch was received at headquarters this morning. The information is important, and leads to the belief that Quantrell has been killed. He is thought to have been in the State:

Warrensburg, Mo., May 17, 1864.

To Col. O. D. Green, A. A. G.:

Corporal Wood, of Company F, First Missouri State Militia, with a small escort, killed one bushwhacker and wounded another, capturing both their horses, yesterday, near the line of Jackson County. Papers on the man killed were invoices from Capt. W. S. Heaton, A. A. Q. M., to Col. P. C. Quantrell. The man answered the description of Quantrell. I have no doubt but he is the noted chief of guerrillas. He fought with his bowie-knife after being brought low by a pistol shot. I have sent for more definite information,

MORE ABOUT GARIBALDI'S LEAVING.

The Bremen steamship America, from Southampton on May 11, arrived here yesterday. Although the America's news is in part anticipated by the Peruvian, via Port au Basque, the details which we find in our exchanges are of great importance.

ENGLAND.

In the House of Lords, Monday, May 9, Lord Carnarvon, who had placed on the paper a motion on the present state of the Danish question, asked if at the meeting of the Conference that day an armistice between the German and Danish forces had been agreed to. If so, he would withdraw his motion.

Lord Russell stated that a suspension of arms for one month from May 12 had been agreed to, on condition that the blockade of the German ports should be raised. The Government of Denmark had preferred a simple suspension of arms to an armistice, on the conditions demanded by Austria and Prussia.

Lord Carnarvon, under these circumstances, had no wish to do anything that might have even the appearance of embarrassing the Government. He, therefore, withdrew his motion. Lord Campbell then called attention to the whole of the diplomatic correspondence with the Government of Russia on the affairs of Poland, and gave a review of the negotiations, with the object of founding on the dispatches two resolutions; firstly, that the correspondence had not yet arrived at any satisfactory conclusion; and, secondly, that the Emperor of Russia, having failed to comply with the conditions of the Treaty of Vienna, on which he acquired the sovereignty of Poland, the English Government is no longer bound by that treaty.

Lord Russell thought such a resolution would rather impair than increase the authority of the House, and stated the circumstances that had given the negotiations a termination less satisfactory than could have been wished. He believed the Emperor of Russia, in a time of tranquillity, would still feel bound by the conditions of the treaty, and it would not be expedient for the Government of England to disclaim its obligations.

Lord Grey believed that the interference on behalf of Poland had only encouraged the Poles to make a useless resistance to overwhelming force, and brought on the Government of this country a repulse to which England ought not to have been exposed.

The resolutions were then withdrawn.

In the House of Commons, Monday, May 9, Mr. Osborne inquired whether the Government had received information of a collision having taken place in the North Sea between the Austrian and Danish ships-of-war, and that the Austrians had got the worst of it.

Sir G. Grey replied in the affirmative, giving particulars of the defeat of the Austrian Squadron. An announcement which was received with hearty cheers from both sides of the House.

Mr. Disraeli complained that the House was not informed of the conditions of the armistice which Sir G. Grey had stated a short time before had been that day agreed upon by the conference.

Sir G. Grey repeated that an armistice, or suspension of hostilities, had been agreed upon, but he could not state the terms.

The House then went into Committee of Supply, and votes to the amount of £3,464,642 were agreed to for the army estimates.

THE CONFERENCE.

The semi-official Nord Deutsche Zeitung says: "The war contribution, imposed by Marshal Wrangel upon Jutland, as a compensation for German ships captured by the Danes, having been paid, the conference will meet at their next sitting under more favorable circumstances. It now depends upon Denmark whether an armistice shall be concluded. At present the German Great Powers can be satisfied with the proposals made by the neutral Powers; they having proposed a suspension of the blockade and the evacuation of Alsen by the Danes, as an equivalent for which the allied armies will withdraw from Jutland.

NAVAL ENGAGEMENT BETWEEN THE DANISH AND AUSTRO-PRUSSIAN FLEET.

From the London Times, May 10.

The 9th of May, 1864, will ever be remarkable for the exact but fortuitous concurrence of two events having the most important bearings, the one on the other. While the representatives of the belligerents and of the allied Powers were sitting in conference with a view to the cessation of bloodshed on some terms or other, an Austrian and a Danish squadron were engaged in action several hundred miles off, near the opposite shores of the German Ocean. Almost at the very hour that Denmark, declining an armistice which would give a greater sanction to the past than she chose to allow, was agreeing to a simple suspension of hostilities, an Austrian frigate was on the point of destruction, and its consorts were taking refuge in the British waters of Heligoland. Such a concurrence was possible at any time, for we have heard before of simultaneous victories by sea and by land; but that both events should not only happen together, but be simultaneously known in Downing-street, would have been impossible and incredible a very few years ago. The telegraphic wire brought the news of the one event across the German Ocean as fast as messengers could bring the other to the office next door. When the conference had agreed to a suspension of arms, they heard within an hour that they had been too late to stop a battle in which Denmark had retrieved, at the cost of one of her assailants, the reverses she had suffered at the hands of the other. It is scarcely possible for the most impartial or the most indifferent bystander not to rejoice at this opportune change in the hitherto sad tenor of her fortunes. It has come not only as a substantial proof of her prowess, but also as if to reward the moderation with which she has agreed to endure for a time the hostile occupation of her soil. There never was a time or an occasion in which the British people were not disposed to give their sympathy to the weak. On that, if on no other ground, they would delight to see Denmark making up on her own element for indefensible earthworks and overwhelming foes. But it was something more than this British instinct that prompted the enthusiastic cheers of the House of Commons when they heard the result of the action off Heligoland. Whatever may be the rights of this inscrutable question, they regard Austria and Prussia as aggressors, who without a legal footing in Denmark use their overwhelming numbers for evidently selfish purposes.

The allied German Powers had agreed to recommend an armistice, involving, among other things, that Denmark should suspend her blockade of the Baltic ports and should surrender to her invaders the island of Alsen, while they were also to withdraw their armies from Jutland. It was supposed that Denmark would readily give us a small island lying at the mercy of the foe, in order to save the Danish inhabitants of her mainland from their present humiliation and misusage. The Danes, however, preferred a mere suspension of arms, as being the simple continuance of a state of things in which it could not be pretended that they for a moment acquiesce. Being purely negative, it commits them to nothing, and is not even a step to any consummation. That Prussian and Austrian armies occupy all Jutland is a deplorable fact, which the Danes have only recognized in the language of indignant remonstrance. The abandonment of Alsen a day earlier than was expected by the exigencies of war would have looked like the abandonment of a just claim. That the Danes would agree to any species of armistice, and especially that they would suspend their blockade, was what the Conference rather hoped than expected. They knew that they had to confer not with men before them, but with the telegraphic wire, and the men at the other end of that wire, and they knew that in the case of Denmark, the men at the other end of the wire were under the influence of a turbulent and irrational democracy. Copenhagen, safe in an island, and with Sweden to flatter its vanity and foster its hopes, gives laws to the mainland, not so secure or so irresponsible for its deeds. Would the Danish representatives even make the smallest approximation toward a settlement? It was feared not. However, reason has at last prevailed, and we have now the happiness of seeing a Conference for peace which is not carried on pari passup with a sanguinary war.

We trust the Danes will not be too much elated with their naval victory to take that part in the further proceedings of the Conference which facts may require. That victory we have no wish to disparage. It seems to have been fought against odds, and the Austrians could hardly be worse armed than the Danes themselves. It is probable that both sides had the old style of armament; but even were it otherwise, on the open sea the advantages of the new ordnance might be counteracted by better manœuvring and by close quarters. No such victory, however, would enable the Danes to make their blockade of the German ports effective. As the camel is the "ship of the desert," so the railway is the ship of the Continent in these days, and is fully competent to do all that ship has ever done. We trust, then, the Danes will bear their new honors meekly, and remember not only that they are but men, but that they are also not many, not rich, and somewhat behindhand in military affairs. If they keep that in mind, it may lead to a peaceful, and even to an equitable settlement of this long and disastrous controversy.

The result of the suspension of arms is most propitious for our own affairs. It has reinstated a Government which every rumor threatened to shake from its seat. So long as England was compelled to stand by and witness a slaughter which she utterly abominated, but had neither the authority to stop nor the wit to avert, no Ministry could hold itself safe from the indignation which, justly or unjustly, must find some object or other. Had the conference broken up without an armistice, though by no fault of the Government, the conservatives would have had a majority to back them in censuring the impotent friends of Denmark, and the unsuccessful champions of public justice. "Nothing succeeds like success." All the labor and anxiety which have been expended in conciliating Danes and Germans, in smoothing difficulties and calming susceptibilities, however unreasonable, would have won for those who endured it no consideration in the House of Commons or in the country if it had failed to vanquish the obstinacy of one side or the rapacity of the other. It is the injustice which all public men are taught by experience to expect. Happily, on this occasion reason, and perhaps a better feeling on both sides, possibly, too, a fear of ulterior consequences, have come to the aid of the peacemakers; the fighting is over for the present; the Austrians and Prussians will retire to their quarters, and the Conservatives, who but yesterday were ready to storm the Treasury Bench, may make up their minds to an uneventful session, and return as soon as they please to the pleasures of country life.

GARIBALDI—GLADSTONE'S EXPLANATIONS.

On Tuesday, the 10th of May, the Chancellor of the Exchequer received by invitation, at his official residence in Downing-street, a deputation from the City and Working Men's Garibaldi Committees, for the purpose of affording them, if they desired, any further explanations as to the part he had taken in connection with the departure of Gen. Garibaldi from England. The deputation consisted of Mr. Beales, &c., &c.

Mr. Beales said the deputation had attended in consequence of understanding that he (Mr. Gladstone) desired to make to them some statements on the subject of the departure of Gen. Garibaldi.

Mr. Gladstone—Well, there are certain wrong impressions floating about which I am desirous of placing in a correct light, and I desire to put myself, as it were, in the witness-box, and state all I know upon the subject, to render a true account of the matter so far as I am concerned. In the first place, I would remark that the report I have seen in the daily papers, purporting to be made by Mr. Shaen at a public meeting on Saturday, is, so far as I am concerned, very incorrect—in fact, entirely untrue in every particular. At the same time I do not for one moment impute to Mr. Shaen that he stated anything but what he believed to be true. I am ready to answer any question that may be put to me, or at once to enter into a narrative of the part I took in the matter in question.

Mr. Shaen.—Will Mr. Gladstone state, in detail, to what part of my statement he objects? I did not make that statement entirely on facts within my personal knowledge, but some of them were made upon the authority of old and intimate friends of Garibaldi, whose names I am prepared to give, who were in constant personal communication with him up to the moment of his leaving England. Immediately on its being rumored that Garibaldi was going to leave England without visiting the country, Mr. Joseph Cowen, jr., of Newcastle-on-Tyne, one of Gen. Garibaldi's oldest and most intimate friends in this country, was telegraphed for to London. He came up on the Tuesday evening and had a private interview of one hour with the General, in which the whole subject connected with the departure was discussed. Mr. Cowen, on leaving the General, called on me and told me what had taken place. I at once drew up a statement in accordance with what Mr. Cowen had told me, and submitted it to that gentleman, who confirmed it as correct. The paper contained the principal statements I made on Saturday last.

Mr. Gladstone—I again say I do not wish it to be understood I attribute any willful untruth to Mr. Shaen, or to any other gentleman. Perhaps it will be more desirable for me to state the exact part I took in the transaction. I will begin with the meeting or conference at Stafford-house on Sunday evening, the 17th of April; for of what is said by Mr. Shaen to have transpired previous to that, I have no personal knowledge. On the evening in question, I made one of eight gentlemen who assembled at Stafford-house by invitation. Besides myself there were present the Duke of Sutherland, Lord Shaftesbury, Mr. Seely, M. P.; Signer Negretti, Gen. Eber, Mr. Stansfeld, M. P., and Col. Peard. We had Mr. Fergusson's letter before us, and upon that letter we came to an unanimous conclusion that it would be exceedingly perilous for the General to go through his programme. The question then arose who should make this communication to the General. I was suggested, but declined. Gen. Eber and Col. Peard at last volunteered, and they accordingly went into the General's room, and stated the conclusion to which his friends had come. On the return of those gentlemen they said the General wished to see me, and I went into his room alone, and had a long conversation with him in Italian. What I stated in the House of Commons to have occurred at that interview is correct. I told the General I thought his health would be endangered if he carried out his programme, and that my own impression was confirmed by the letter of Mr. Fergusson. I urged him at any rate to confine his visits to at most three of the larger towns. I did not say that about the reception attributed to me in Mr. Shaen's speech. What I said was, "That such a magnificent reception was not in the nature of things likely to bear repetition." With respect to anything said about the Government wishing him to go, or that complications would arise if he did not, it was not true. Nothing was said that could possibly be so construed. There was nothing of a political character in the conversation. So far from, as it has been stated, shifting my ground several times and returning to the attack, what I said I said at once and continuously. Not one syllable about the desire of the Government that the General should leave escaped my lips; and I confess that I was never more astonished—though I have been often greatly astonished—than when I read in print what was stated to have taken place. All that I said or did was to urge the General not to peril his health, and in giving this advice I was in a great measure guided by the letter of Mr. Fergusson. The General heard me with much attention, acknowledged that he felt great exhaustion, and said that as there would be considerable difficulty in selecting two or three towns to visit out of the number on his list, he should give up his tour altogether. He also added, that as his only motive in coming to England was to thank the Government and the people for the assistance and sympathy they had given to his country, and as that had been accomplished, he had better now return, and take another opportunity of visiting the English provinces. I can safely say nothing else transpired between myself and the General of the slightest importance.

Mr. Shaen—While I am willing to accept the Chancellor's explanation, I am prepared to say that the General himself was under the impression, and remained so up to the time he left England, that the Government wished him to be off. He expressed himself so to me, and to all his friends. I said to him: "I think the Government will regret their conduct after you have left, if not before." The reply of the General was: "If the Government feel regret, there is time between this and Friday to remove it." There could be no doubt as to the impression entertained by GARIBALDI; for, on my putting the question to him, he said he did not consider the explanation made by Lord PALMERSTON in the House of Commons released him, and that it had now become a question between the English Government and the English people. It was certainly possible that, although Mr. GLADSTONE had not introduced the name of the Government, GARIBALDI had derived his impression from the fact of his being urged to terminate his visit by one whom he knew to be an influential member of the Government.

Mr. GLADSTONE—Of course I cannot be held responsible for a man's impressions. If Gen. GARIBALDI was under that impression, I am extremely sorry for it.

Mr. BEALES thought it was impossible to doubt the statement made by Mr. GLADSTONE, but had no doubt he would admit it was highly desirable both for the sake of the Government and himself that the matter should be fully cleared up.

Mr. ODGERS thought it strange that the very parties who had been instrumental in leading GARIBALDI into one continued round of receptions and parties from morning until night, should, on the eve of his departing to go among the people, become suddenly so solicitous about his health. The General had told him personally, after all this fuss had been made about Mr. FERGUSSON's letter, that he had never been in better health in his life. If his health had been affected, they could not charge that upon the working classes, as the aristocracy had pretty well kept him to themselves.

Mr. GLADSTONE—I must repeat I acted entirely and in good faith upon Mr. FERGUSSON's letter.

Mr. B. LANGLEY—That letter was not a diagnosis, but a prognosis; it was one of prophecy only.

Mr. J. R. TAYLOR—On every occasion GARIBALDI struck out from all the statements and addresses written for him all allusions to the bad state of his health. He thought this a significant fact.

Mr. BEALES—At least we may arrive at the conclusion that the sudden departure of the General was caused by other parties, and was not his own wish.

Mr. GLADSTONE—I don't admit that.

Mr. B. LANGLEY—There still remains the awkward fact of Mr. FERGUSSON's letter. Why was it written, or at whose orders? It must have been asked for by some one. It was in direct contradiction to the letter of GARIBALDI's own physicians.

Mr. GLADSTONE—That is a question that concerns Mr. FERGUSSON.

Mr. B. LANGLEY said it appeared to him that Mr. GLADSTONE had unconsciously allowed himself to be made use of by other parties for their purposes.

Mr. GLADSTONE—I can't admit that. I think the General acted wisely in going as he did, with the intention of returning at a more convenient period.

Mr. SHEAN said there could be no doubt that at the time Lord SHAFTESBURY and Mr. KINNAIRD were leaving Mr. SEELY's house on the Sunday, the gentleman said to them, "The first thing is to get FERGUSON's letter." This was said in the hearing of Mr. RICHARDSON, the Secretary of the City Committee. This looked as if there was a plot in progress.

Mr. GLADSTONE—All I can say is I am perfectly ignorant of all the circumstances under which Mr. FERGUSSON's letter was written. I only acted upon it in good faith, and it being in accordance with my own feeling on the matter.

Some further remarks having been made by Messrs. TAYLOR, HARTWELL and BEALES as to the words "obliged to leave" in GARIBALDI's letter to the City Committee, but in whose conclusions the Chancellor of the Exchequer could not agree.

Mr. GLADSTONE again assured the deputation he had stated all he knew; he had nothing to conceal, and was happy to have had the opportunity of making this explanation.

The deputation then retired, the interview having lasted one hour and a quarter.

MONDAY, May 23—A. M.

The trade of the past week was fairly active in both the Import and Export movement. The entries of General Foreign Merchandise were quite heavy; a considerable portion passing into Bond. The break in the Erie Canal, since repaired, caused very light receipts of Wheat and other Western Produce, though large sales of Wheat were made on the Corn Exchange, to arrive. There was a fair export demand for Gold, until the rapid speculative advance on the bogus proclamation and other exciting rumors carried the price above the relative ruling of Bills on London. For the last packet the Government was a drawer at 197 ₱ cent. Currency.

The Stock Exchange has followed up the rise in Gold to a considerable extent, and is also influenced by the ease in the Money market and the continued traffic gains reported by nearly all the New-York and Western Roads. Although these are qualified by the increased expenses of operating and keeping the roads in efficient renewal and repair and in adding to the rolling equipment, the adverse items only appear in the annual reports of the Companies, while the traffic returns are published monthly, and from many of the Western lines every week. We hear occasional rumors of intended larger dividends on such lines as the Michigan Central, and of the resumption of Common Stock Dividends on such as the Michigan Southern, Prairie du Chien, &c., but on no official authority. The Coal Stocks and the Stocks of the Coal carrying Roads continue in favor, because of the high prices and large consumption of both Anthracite and Bituminous Coal; but against these the rapid advance in mining labor is becoming a serious drawback. The Border State Stocks keep steady, and City Bank Shares and Railway Mortgages, as a rule, quite firm, on a limited offering at the Board. The Government Securities are also firm, and the absorption of the new 10-40 Loan quite steady, though not as rapid as it should be for its Gold-paying interest, equal at the present premium to 9 ₱ cent. ₱ annum on the par value of the 5 ₱ cent. Stock, and in view of the relatively higher prices of the Dividend paying Railroads and their Mortgages.

The market for Gold and Stocks was free from excitement Saturday. Only one Session of the Stock Exchange Board was held. The Railway speculation opened somewhat tame, but subsequently returned to about the prices of Friday. The only (small) sale of Gold at the Board was at 181½ ₱ cent. The price was afterwards made 182¾@183½ in the Gold Room, as against 182½@183 Friday night. The following were about the latest quotations for Stocks as compared with 4 o'clock on Friday; the general market steady. At the Evening Exchange some of the Railways were lower.

We notice, with pleasure, the growing prosperity of the Merchants' Exchange and News-Room in Pine-street. The arrangements of the establishment for news, newspapers, shipping records, &c., are complete, and 'Change hours are now held every day in the main room, by the oil, drug and other important interests, including ship-owners and bankers.

The following facts in regard to the Peoria and Burlington Road, Illinois, are communicated from an authentic source:

The Logansport, Peoria and Burlington Railroad (formerly Peoria and Oquawka Railroad) having been purchased, under foreclosure of mortgages, by CHARLES L. FROST, EDWARD WESTON and H. G. MARQUAND, was organized on Friday, in accordance with the plan agreed upon in December, 1862.

The name of the new company under charter of the State of Illinois is the Toledo, Peoria and Warsaw Railway Company.

The following are Directors for the ensuing year: Charles L. Frost, Edward Weston, H. G. Marquand, James W. Smith and Zeno Secor, of New-York; John B. Brown of Portland, and H. F. Clark of Peoria.

The Directors have chosen the following officers: CHARLES L. FROST, President; D. W. MCWILLIAMS, Secretary and Treasurer.

A committee was appointed to meet immediately a similar committee, on the part of Toledo, Logansport and Burlington Railway, and agreed upon terms of consolidation of the two roads. Efforts are also being made to complete the building of the road from Peoria to Warsaw (opposite Keokuk,) and thus to have a continuous through line, under the control of one company, from Logansport (on Toledo and Wabash Railroad) to the Mississippi River.

The London Times has the following from Frankfort on American Government Stocks. The illiberal comments with which that journal interlards the information, may be pardoned for the information itself, which we have reason to know is not exaggerated as to Germany, and might truthfully, and perhaps with increased force, be repeated as to Holland. From this old and wealthy State we believe a proposition has been made to the Secretary of the Treasury to take at least $25,000,000 (as a beginning) of the new 10-40 year 5 ₱ cents., provided the coupons are made payable in Amsterdam:

> "In the advices from Frankfort it is remarked that there have never been as many bills on London in circulation in that market as at present. The portfolios of the banks, bankers and capitalists are full of long bills, taken in exchange for short ones, which are eagerly bought up at rising prices by parties who have to make remittance for bills drawn on their account on London from New-York, in payment for the large masses of United States 6 per cent. stocks brought on the Frankfort Exchange. 'These securities,' it is observed, 'are still bought with astonishing eagerness for investment by capitalists in Southern Germany, in spite of the heavy losses hitherto incurred. The high interest, until now punctually paid, induces capitalists to part with their best German stocks for these, at all events, very doubtful ones. As speculators who have been discouraged by continuous losses and large sales nevertheless are going on, it is manifest that these funds get into the hands of strong holders, who do not care for the momentary fall in quotations; previous similar investments in Dutch and Spanish stocks when at low prices having proved eminently successful. Still, regular visitors of the Exchange abstain from American Government funds as long as they see no end to the war.' As the Frankfort currency is silver, the high London bank rates have not yet influenced that place, where discount remains at 3½ ₱ cent. at the bank, and at 3 ₱ cent. in the open market. Still, it is probable that, as a matter of precaution, the bank will raise its rate, following the example of the Prussian Bank, which has moved to 5 ₱ cent., though the bullion stands at 65,433,000 thalers."

Of Scotch Pig we hear of no sales. For Manufactured Iron the inquiry is good at fully former rates, and the mills generally are well off for orders."

LEATHER—The week's business in this line, Messrs. WEIZEL & WEIDEMEYER notice thus: "Hemlock Sole—Sales have been of limited extent; only few buyers were in town, during the week, and purchased quite sparingly, at a small decline from last week's prices. Stock moderate, and gradually accumulating. Oak Sole—Stock small; a little on the increase. Demand languid. Prices a little easier. Upper-in-Rough—All kinds are dull, excepting heavy oak-tanned, for belting purposes. Week's Receipts of sole leather about 53,000 sides."

PROVISIONS—Pork continues in active request for immediate and future delivery, at higher prices, particularly for New Mess. Sales since our last, 11,000 bbls., at $28 50@$29, closing at $29 for New Mess—$29 for June delivery, seller's and buyer's option, and $29 75@$30 50 for July, seller's and buyer's option—$26 50@$27 for Old Mess, $27@$27 25 for Prime Mess, and $28 50 for do., June delivery; $27 50@$28 for Thin Mess, and $23 25@$24 62 for Old and New Prime, ₱ bbl. Cut meats continue inactive, at 14¾c.@15¾c. for Hams, and 11½c.@11¾c. for Shoulders, ₱ ℔.—sales, 100 pkgs. Bacon is very quiet, at 12¾c.@14¾c., according to quality, ₱ ℔.—sales, 200 boxes. Lard is in fair demand and steady—sales since our last, 3,300 tcs. and bbls., for immediate and future delivery, at 13¾c.@14¾c., the latter an extreme, ₱ ℔. Beef is saleable and firm; sales 1,050 bbls., at $19@$20 50 for Extra Mess; $15@$18 for plain Mess, ₱ bbl. Butter continues in fair demand at 32c.@40c. for poor to choice State; 27c.@36c. for Western ₱ ℔. Cheese is salable at 13c.@18c. ₱ ℔. Eggs are active; Western and State, 21½c.@22c. ₱ dozen.

SKINS—Goat have been in very moderate request, manufacturers buying only in a small way to supply immediate wants. The stock is composed almost of undesirable descriptions, firmly held beyond the views of buyers. We have no sales of importance to report. Of Deer the remaining stock is firmly held at about old prices, which manufacturers refuse to pay.

SUGARS—Have been more active at unchanged prices. Sales since our last 1,670 hhds., including New-Orleans at 17c.@17½c.; Cuba at 16¼c.@17¼c. ₱ ℔. Refined Sugars are inactive at 17½c.@23½c. ₱ ℔.

TALLOW—Sales since our last 170,000 ℔s. at 13½c.@13⅝c. ₱ ℔.

WHISKEY—Sales have been reported since our last of 1,100 bbls., in lots, at $1 27@$1 28 for State, and $1 28½@$1 30, chiefly $1 29, for Western ₱ gallon, the market closing heavily.

WOOL—Desirable lots, though not active, are firm. Inferior parcels are heavy, and being offered freely, are tending downward. The week's sales embrace 125,000 ℔s. domestic fleece at 75c.@85c.; 35,000 ℔s. do. pulled at 75c.@84c.; 25,000 ℔s. California at 35c.@55c.; 250 bales Donskoi on private terms; 250 bales Cape at 44c.@50c.; 200 bales Smyrna, unwashed, at 35c., and some small lots of foreign on private terms.....In Boston, according to the Commercial Bulletin, sales were made of 250,000 ℔s. domestic at about the previous range of 70c.@85c. for fleece, and 75c.@90c. for super and extra pulled. Also 600 bales foreign, including Cape at 45c.@50c., and Mestiza at 34c.@42. Both buyers and sellers are apparently satisfied that all the available wool will be wanted before the receipt of the new clip; and as the market is now chiefly controlled by the regular trade, the former could hope to gain but a slight advantage in any event affecting the price of gold and merchandise in general. Indeed, had it not been for the advance of the army in Virginia, the stocks on the market would have been entirely exhausted by the present time. These stocks, instead of further accumulating by a prolonged dullness of trade, must continue hereafter to be steadily reduced, as receipts have almost entirely fallen off, and the probability is that there is but little more old Wool to come forward until the product of the current year shall be put upon the market. Should the present period of inaction, however, be protracted two or three weeks longer, to a point of time verging on the new clip, wool would not be likely to rule much higher, in any event, for the balance of the season......In Philadelphia, sales were made of 80,000 ℔s. domestic fleece and pulled at 70c.@85.; and 25,000 ℔s. California on private terms.......London circulars of the 7th inst., report the annual trade sales of Colonial wool as having been inaugurated with great spirit, notwithstanding the pressure on the money market caused by the Bank of England's advanced rate of discount. The bidding showed great confidence on the part of operators as well as activity in manufacturing circles. Cape ranged from 6½d to 11d.

FREIGHTS—For Liverpool, the engagements included 400 tcs. Lard at 17s. 6d.; 150 tons Mahogany and 25 tons Logwood, at 24s. 6d. For London, 500 bbls. Flour, at 2s.; 2,750 bbls. Whale Oil, at 27s. 6d.@30s., chiefly at 30s.; 125 boxes Bacon, at 25s.; 150 bbls. Oxide Zinc, at 2s. 4½d. For Glasgow, 500 tcs. Lard, at 22s. 6d.; also, by steamer, 250 tcs. Lard, 150 boxes Bacon, and 50 hhds. Hams, at 30s. For Bristol, 20 tons Tallow, at 20s. For Cork and orders, two foreign vessels, with Wheat, at 6s. 9d. For Rotterdam, 500 bbls. Flour, at 2s. 3d. For Antwerp, 200 tcs. Lard, at 26s. 3d.; 50 hhds. Tallow, at 25s.; 2,500 bbls. Petroleum, at 5s. 6c.; 250 bbls. Red Oil, at 3c.

NEW SKIRT FOR 1864.
A NEW AND GREAT INVENTION IN HOOP SKIRTS.
THE DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (OR DOUBLE) STEEL SPRING.
J. I. & J. O. WEST, NO. 97 CHAMBERS-ST., NEW-YORK,
Are the owners of the patent and exclusive manufacturers of this.
J. W. BRADLEY'S
PATENTED DUPLEX ELLIPTIC STEEL SPRING SKIRTS.
This invention consists of Duplex (or two) Elliptic Steel Springs, ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most elastic, flexible and durable spring ever used, enabling the wearer, in consequence of its great elasticity and flexibleness, to place and fold the skirt when in use as easily and with the same convenience as a silk or muslin dress. It entirely obviates and silences the only objections to hoop skirts, viz.: the annoyance to the wearer as well as the public, especially in crowded assemblies, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, or in any crowded place from the difficulty of contracting them to occupying a small space. This entirely removes the difficulty, while giving the skirt the usual full and symmetrical form, and is the lightest and most stylish and graceful appearance for the street, opera, promenade or house dress. A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterward willingly dispense with the use of them. They are the best quality in every part, and by far the lightest, most durable, comfortable and economical skirt made. Merchants will be supplied as above, and ladies in most first-class retail stores in this City and throughout the different States.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

READY WEDNESDAY, 25TH INST.,

THE LIFE AND TIMES OF BENJAMIN FRANKLIN.

By James Parton,
Author of "Life and Times of Aaron Burr;" "Life of Andrew Jackson;" "Gen. Butler at New-Orleans," etc. 2 vols., crown, 8vo. 1,330 pp., with steel portraits. Cloth extra. $5.

Franklin offers, perhaps, the best subject for biography to be found in the annals of America. His career as a citizen, tradesman, philosopher, politician, statesman, diplomatist and author, presents a variety of incident, anecdote and history wholly without parallel. Yet, often and ably as his biography has been attempted, there cannot be said to have existed, heretofore, any really satisfactory account of his life and times.

The course pursued by previous biographers has been to give the fragments of autobiography, (written by Franklin for the benefit of youth,) and append to them a brief account of Franklin's public career. Mr. Parton, on the contrary, by using the autobiography as material only, is enabled to employ the great mass of interesting matter relating to Franklin's early life, which is to be found in the books, newspapers and correspondence of the period. His later life also is fully related in these volumes for the first time. Besides the stores of material collected in our historical libraries, Mr. Parton has obtained much that is absolutely new, and much more that will be new to all but those who have made the times of Franklin an object of special research.

The publishers, who have been witnesses of the remarkable industry of the author, and the enthusiasm with which he has pursued his labors, and who have the best reasons for knowing the very high appreciation which has been placed upon his previous writings by the public, confidently believe that this work will be found one of the most interesting and permanently valuable biographies ever published.

ALSO READY ON WEDNESDAY,
A new edition of
PARTON'S LIFE AND TIMES OF BARON BURR.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

Secretary Stanton's official dispatch of last evening conveys, in distinct terms, the very important intelligence that on Friday Gen. Grant commenced a flank movement for the purpose of compelling Lee to abandon his position at Spottsylvania Court-house; that, although all the details cannot yet be given, the movement is thus far a success; that the gallant Hancock is once again in the vanguard—an hour and a half ahead of Longstreet, on the march to Richmond, and probably twenty-four hours ahead of Ewell; that the rebels are making for the south bank of the North Anna River; that, although Lee has received reinforcements, Grant, in effecting his movement, has thus far suffered no severe losses; and that the advance of the national army is now at Guinney's and Milford Stations, south of the River Mattapony.

From Gen. Butler's army there is intelligence through a dispatch from Secretary Stanton up to Friday night, that there had been hard fighting all that day, the rebels endeavoring to close in on our lines, but Butler says, "We shall hold on." He announces the capture of the rebel Gen. Walker, of Texas. The official dispatch of Sunday night brings nothing later.

From Gen. Sherman there is news that he had secured, at Kingston, two bridges and one ford across the Etowah River, that the railroad and telegraph were in working order, and that he would stop two days to replenish supplies and fit up. At Rome seven fine foundries and machine shops had fallen into our hands, besides considerable quantities of provisions. The latest news is that Gen. Sherman is resting and replenishing.

Gen. Kilpatrick, in a dispatch to his family at Buttermilk Falls, N. Y., says that although his wounds are slight, they will compel him to give up his command, and he is therefore on his way home. He was wounded near Summerville, Ga., while leading a cavalry charge in the rear of Johnston's army. Gen. Kilpatrick arrived at Cincinnati on Saturday. From Cincinnati he started for New-York yesterday.

A dispatch received by the Navy Department states that news had reached Fort de Russy from Gen. Banks, that one gunboat was coming over the Falls, and it was believed all would get over. A communication was also received from the United States bark Ethan Allen, reporting the destruction of some very valuable salt-works at Cane Pitch, S. C. News was received from the Pawnee, stating that the expedition up the St. John's River had been very successful. The subscriptions reported to the Treasury Department to the ten-forty loan for the past week amounted to $5,600,000.

By the arrival here, yesterday, of the United States steamer Newbern, from the North Atlantic Blockading Squadron, we learn that the rebel iron-clad North Carolina, which recently came over the Wilmington Bar, was found upon her return to leak so badly as to compel her crew to run her ashore to avoid sinking. Upon the falling of the tide she parted amidships. Another rebel iron-clad of the same class is almost completed.

The railroad from Aquia Creek to Fredericksburgh is expected to be in running order on Tuesday next. The dangerously wounded at Fredericksburgh will be removed to Washington immediately.

The result of Gen. Crook's great raid is described by an eye-witness as being very successful. The Virginia and East Tennessee Railroad he has broken up so thoroughly as to render it useless for the next three months. He has marched through the entire Department of Southwestern Virginia, has captured a large number of prisoners—among them Gen. Jenkins and Col. Smith—and is now slowly falling back to a new base to await an opportunity for further operations.

Gen. Hooker it seems was not wounded in the recent battles at and near Resaca. The sufferer was Brig.-Gen. Harker.

FROM EUROPE.

The Havre and Bremen steamer America, via Southampton, with dates to Wednesday, the 11th inst., arrived here yesterday. The news is only in part anticipated in the intelligence received by the Peruvian via Port au Basque. It is of much interest and importance. The London Conference, as was briefly reported by the Peruvian, had succeeded in obtaining an armistice, or rather a suspension of hostilities, to commence from the 12th of May, and to continue for one month. Previous to this arrangement, however, a collision had taken place between the naval squadrons of Austria and Denmark in the North Sea. The Austrians had two frigates and three gunboats engaged, and the Danes two frigates and a corvette. While the House of Commons was in session on the 9th, a telegram was received from the Governor of Heligoland, which reported that the Danes had defeated the Austrians; that one of the frigates of that Power was in flames, and the rest of the Austrian squadron was making for Heligoland. The announcement was received with loud cheers from all parts of the House, the occupants of the Strangers' Gallery joining heartily in the applause. The Daily News says: "Government officials have been at Southampton inspecting some of the mail packets, to ascertain their fitness for war transports. A deputation of the Garibaldi Committee had waited on Mr. Gladstone to get a statement of the facts connected with the sudden departure of Garibaldi. The result does not appear to have been entirely satisfactory to the committee, although Mr. Gladstone reaffirmed, in the most positive terms, that he acted solely on his own responsibility, as solely from a consideration for Gen. Garibaldi's health.

GENERAL NEWS.

In our files by the America we notice in the Times' City Article of Wednesday, May 11, that the announcement of the naval success of the Danes and the suspension of hostilities, was received with great animation in the Stock Exchange, and Consols opened at a further advance of ⅛, closing at 91⅞@¼. There was a good demand at the Bank; but the market generally showed a decided diminution of pressure. The Confederate Loan is 65 to 67; French Rentes, 66f.75c.; Illinois Central paid-up shares recovered ½; Confederate Loan advanced 3 per cent., closing at 67; £203,000 in Gold was taken to the Bank to-day; New-York Central shares declined 1; Philadelphia and Reading shares 3½; Erie shares, of both descriptions, 3 each; Erie Fourth Mortgage, 62½; Erie Fifth Mortgage, 3; Atlantic and Great Western, Pennsylvania Section, 2; and Atlantic and Great Western, New-York Section, 1.

The bogus proclamation has already traveled as far as Illinois. The Quincy Herald, of the 19th inst., introduces it as follows: "The World is the only paper which appears to have the following," and then publishes the proclamation in full.

A fire was discovered about 4 o'clock yesterday morning in the basement of the Maison Dorée, in Fourteenth-street. The damage to the building is about $1,000; furniture and fixtures, $1,500. It is fully insured.

The Japanese gunboat Puseyami was launched on Saturday from Westervelt's shipyard. She was built under the supervision of Capt. Joseph Comstock.

On Saturday night the 7½ o'clock through train to Washington, run over three horses five miles from Trenton, killed the fireman, and injured the assistant fireman and one passenger.

A man named Philip Hess was arrested by Detective Roach, charged with receiving stolen goods. Two other charges are pending against him, he was committed to jail.

The Stock and Gold markets were steady on Saturday. Money easy at 6 per cent.

The Chivalry of the Rebel Gen. Lee.

"When monkeys are gods, what must the people be?" Robert E. Lee, Commander of the rebel army, is deemed the paragon of Southern chivalry. The rebels have always been vain of being led by one of such pure blood, such stainless honor. Justly enough by their standard. But let us put him to a civilized test.

What is his blood? His grandfather, R. H. Lee, had the taint of treason in him. Writing in 1790, on the Federal Constitution, he said, "When we [the South] attain our natural degree of population, I flatter myself that we shall have the power to do ourselves justice, with dissolving the bond which binds us together." His great uncle, "Light-Horse Harry," was stigmatized by Jefferson, who knew him well, as "an intriguer," "an informer," a "miserable tergiversator." Maj.-Gen. Chas. Lee, of Revolutionary memory, and a kinsman, was, as one may see by Irving's Washington, not only a calumniator of Washington, but was a plotter to supersede him; he was tried by court-martial, after the battle of Monmouth, was found guilty of disobedience of orders, misbehavior before the enemy, and disrespect to the Commander-in-Chief; was subsequently dismissed from the service in disgrace, and soon afterward died in Berkley County, Virginia, leaving in his will these words: "I desire most earnestly that I may not be buried in any church or churchyard, or within a mile of any Presbyterian or consecrated meeting-house; for, since I resided in this country, I have kept so much bad company, while living, that I do not choose to continue it when dead." The great uncle, Arthur Lee, was the libeler of Franklin and Jay and Jefferson, and is described by Tucker, in his life of the latter, to have been "singularly impracticable in his temper and disposition." The uncle, Henry Lee, was in Congress at the time of the Presidential struggle between Jefferson and Burr, and, according to Tucker, advised "desperate measures" to defeat the former; and he was a man of such bad character that when, in 1830, Gen. Jackson, whose fiery partisan he had been, sent his nomination to the Senate for the consulship at Algiers, Mr. Tazewell, of his own party and State, Chairman on Foreign Relations, reported against it, and it was unanimously rejected. It would be difficult to name an old family in this country, of any historical mark, whose "blood" has been shown to be of worse quality than that of the Lees of Virginia.

But it is not family that makes the gentleman, or the reverse. It is personal honor. Has Robert E. Lee this? We say emphatically that he has it not. He is deficient in its very first and most essential element—truth. He is as mendacious as Beauregard himself. This can be proved incontestably, and that too without going back of the history of the last fortnight. On the 14th of this month he issued an address to his soldiers, which we have published. It is brief, but it contains five broad falsehoods.

The first is that "a part of the enemy's force threatening the Valley of Virginia has been routed by Gen. Imboden, and driven back to the Potomac." This, if it means anything, refers to the withdrawal of Sigel across the Shenandoah, when confronted with superior forces. He experienced no rout, and little loss, and, instead of being driven back to the Potomac, was then seventy miles south of the Potomac.

The second is that "a portion of Gen. Averill's forces had been dispersed by Gens. Morgan and Jones, who are in pursuit of the remainder." There was no such dispersion, no such pursuit. Gen. Averill most successfully accomplished the destruction of connections and of stores, and everything which he undertook.

The third is that "Northern journals of the 10th inst. announce the surrender of Gen. Steele, in Arkansas, with an army of nine thousand men." The Northern journals of that date, or of any other date, made no such announcement, except as reproduced in extracts from Richmond papers, which their own advices from Arkansas had previously contradicted. Gen. Lee has been guilty of the trickery of imputing to the Northern papers statements which are expressly given as rebel representations.

The fourth is that "the cavalry force sent by Gen. Grant to attack Richmond has been repulsed, and retired toward the Peninsula." This relates to Gen. Sheridan's expedition, the most dashing, brilliant, and completely successful raid of the war. It was never sent to "attack Richmond," was never repulsed, but went straight through, like a besom of destruction, from the Potomac to the James, in spite of Jeb. Stuart, who perished in his effort to prevent it.

The fifth is that "every demonstration of the enemy south of James River has, up to this time, been successfully repelled." On the contrary, every demonstration, without an exception, had been successful, for, at that time, the demonstration upon Fort Darling had not been made, and those upon the railroads had invariably succeeded, and positions had been secured of great importance, which our forces held, and still hold, in defiance of the enemy.

Now these misstatements must have been willful. They are of a character that precludes the possibility of their being the product of mere misapprehension. Lee deliberately and flagitiously lied. If it be said in his behalf that he did it in order to keep up the drooping spirits of his soldiers, we have to say that it is an expedient which no soldier of honor ever adopts. No Commander of the Army of the Potomac has been guilty of anything of the kind. Grant or Meade would die on the spot before they would degrade their own manhood, and insult the manhood of their soldiers, by such deception.

The simple truth is that the very fact of a soldier's abandoning his flag involves an abandonment of character. Lee received his military education from the Government, had been constantly honored and trusted by the Government, and it was the extreme of perfidy in him to turn traitor against the Government. The soul that could once work itself up to a crime like that is capable of any violation of professional honor or moral duty. Amazement is often expressed at the displays of turpitude by rebels who were formerly reputed high-minded men. But we do not sufficiently appreciate the terribly demoralizing effect of the very act of committing treason. It is not morally possible to perpetrate this supreme crime without wrenching and in fact breaking down the whole moral nature. Treason cannot be committed on any scale without its malignity extending to every part of the moral constitution. Fidelity lies at the very core of sound character, and when that rots, all rots.

Grant's Battle March.—The official news from the Army of the Potomac this morning, though not news of battle, is news of success. Secretary Stanton telegraphed at the hour of ten last night, that Grant commenced, on Friday evening, his movement to force Lee from Spottsylvania; and almost immediately after Hancock had begun his flank movement, Longstreet's corps started South, and was followed by the corps of Ewell on Saturday night. The movement of Gen. Grant, says Secretary Stanton, has thus far been accomplished without any severe engagement or serious interruption. We now occupy Guinney's Station, Milford Station, and are south of the Mattapony on that line. Both of these stations are on the Richmond and Fredericksburgh Railroad, and Lee must either have retreated very rapidly, or Grant must be well in his rear. If Lee does not show fight before he reaches, he will almost certainly fight at, Hanover Junction, the point of crossing of the Virginia Central and Fredericksburgh railroads, and situated on the North Anna River. There will probably be as sanguinary scenes in the closing days of May as there were in its opening fortnight.

The Kohnstamm Frauds, and Their Lesson.

The case of Salomon Kohnstamm, convicted on Saturday, in the Circuit Court of the United States, of having defrauded the Government, is an important one. There has been so much fraud in connection with the operations of the Government here, that it was full time that some one should be made an example of, and we consider this conviction as an important success for the Government, which we hope will be speedily followed up. The case excited great interest, from the standing which Kohnstamm has had in the community, and the court-room was crowded every day of the week during which the trial lasted.

It is more than a year since Kohnstamm was arrested on account of these fraudulent claims. He was first sent to Fort Lafayette, but was transferred from thence to the Old Capitol Prison at Washington, and, after being confined there some time, was released, and these proceedings were commenced. Forty-seven indictments were found against him last June—on one of which the Government elected to proceed against him, and, after several postponements of the case, succeeded in bringing it to trial.

The case which was made out against the accused was briefly this: On the 2d of August, 1862, there was paid to him at the disbursing office in this City, a check for $9,173 79, being the amount of eighteen bills against the Government for the subsistence and lodging of recruits. One of these bills was a bill of one Louis Pfeffer, of Albany, for the amount of $1,366, and this was the bill for the presentation of which this one of the forty-seven indictments against Kohnstamm was found. The Government proved, also, that all that was due to Pfeffer was less than $100. No testimony was given of the actual presentation of the bill at the disbursing office, and the defence made quite a point of this failure of proof, as they called it, for it was the presentation of the bill for which the accused was indicted. This point, however, was disposed of very summarily by Judge Nelson, who told the jury that the fact that Kohnstamm got the money on the bill was evidence enough that he presented it, either in person or by an agent, which was plainly the common sense view of the matter.

There remained the question of Kohnstamm's knowledge that the bill was false. On this point the Government gave some direct evidence and some indirect. They produced the testimony of the Lieutenant-Colonel of the regiment for which Pfeffer's bill was incurred—that he was applied to by Kohnstamm to certify to the correctness of the bill, and refused because it was false. They proved also that six or seven other bills, which were also presented by Kohnstamm about the same time, and paid to him, were all false, some of them having no foundation whatever, and others being swelled up from $200 to over $1,000, and from $300 to over $2,000, &c. They proved the falsity of every bill which the Court allowed them to attack. They also gave evidence which, if the witnesses were to be believed, showed that Kohnstamm's office was a regular manufactory of fraudulent bills; they gave the details of the operations, and the advice and instructions which Kohnstamm gave his agents for carrying them out. If the witnesses for the Government were to be believed, his guilty knowledge was clear as daylight.

This testimony against him was met by very little counter-testimony for the defence. They did not undertake to prove the correctness of one of the fraudulent bills. They did not attempt to contradict the statements that Kohnstamm had bought these bills at merely nominal prices. They relied mainly upon contradictions and improbabilities in the testimony of the Government's witnesses, as discrediting them before the jury. Thus, the Lieutenant-Colonel had testified, in an affidavit, that on his return to this City he was waited on by a tall gentleman, whom he identified as being Kohnstamm, whereas the latter is not a tall man. He also said that Kohnstamm visited him seven times, offering him presents, which he declined to receive, and on the last visit asked him to certify the bill, which the defence thought was a very improbable story.

Another of the witnesses, who testified to the transactions at his office, had made an affidavit at the time of the first indications of approaching trouble about these frauds, in which he had declared that he was not in Kohnstamm's employ, knew nothing of any frauds, and did not believe that Kohnstamm knew of any—an affidavit which was diametrically opposed to his testimony on the trial. And by reason of such contradictions they hoped to get the jury to disbelieve them and secure an acquittal. The difficulty was that the testimony of these scoundrels had the ugly fact of Kohnstamm's collecting the bills to support it, and the more the defence bespattered the witnesses, the more they showed that Kohnstamm was an associate of a set of villains, who were confessedly engaged in swindling the Government. No man could believe that any one sharp enough to be a merchant in New-York City, could buy bill after bill, amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars against the Government, which proved to be frauds wherever they were examined, and yet that he should know nothing of their falsity, though he bought them for the veriest trifle. The defence seemed very confident of an acquittal, but all the doubts, if any there were, which the eloquence of Mr. Brady had been able to weave out of these contradictions, were dispelled by the close argument of Judge Pierrepont, and the remarkably clear and forcible charge of Judge Nelson, and the jury were but a short time in disposing of the case by a verdict of guilty.

We consider this result of the trial as a great public benefit. It should have a good effect in two different directions. It should teach those who think that they can defraud the Government with impunity, a wholesome lesson. War is fruitful in frauds, no doubt. It is all the more important that so enormous frauds as these were should meet with condign punishment. It is hardly possible that this man should be tried on all of the forty-seven indictments which have been found against him; but if he were, it would hardly be too severe a punishment if he were to receive the full sentence of the law on each, for it is such frauds as these which have hampered the action of the Government, and given to its opponents their most available party capital.

And this result should teach the officers of the Government that New-York and New-York juries may be trusted yet. This is, if we mistake not, the first case which has been brought before a jury here for any offence springing out of the rebellion, if we except the trial of the Savannah privateersmen. And if the speedy conviction which it resulted in shall lead the officers of the Government to think that they can trust a little more to the ordinary course of the law for the punishment of offences, and to rely a little less upon arbitrary arrests and military commissions, and courts martial, it will be, we are confident, not the least of the good results which, we trust, will spring from it.

The City Delegates in the Union State Convention.—We have been hoping that we might live to see the day when a delegation could go from this City to a State Convention, without requiring that body to devote a large portion of its time to settling questions of disputed seats. We begin to despair of ever witnessing that consummation. The Union Convention, which meets at Syracuse on Wednesday next, is to have its full share of this annoyance. Every district in this City, is to send two delegations—and the Convention must decide which is "regular."

The State Central Committee, in their call, requested "all Union electors of the State, who desire the unconditional maintenance of the Union, the supremacy of the Constitution, and the complete suppression of the existing rebellion with the cause thereof, by a vigorous war, and all apt and efficient means," to send delegates—"such delegates to be chosen at Conventions called by the respective Union local committees heretofore organized." In response to this summons the Union Central Committee, of which W. A. Darling is President,—"now and heretofore recognized and represented in the National and State Central Committees," on the 5th of May ordered an election in the several Assembly Districts, under direction of the "various Union Ward Associations now represented in the Central Committee of this City,"—and inviting "all loyal Union men to sink for the time all differences and rally to the support of the Government,"—and requesting "all Union-loving voters to unite with the Associations in the various Wards" in selecting fit and proper delegates. Under this call an election was held and delegates were duly appointed.

On the 18th of May another call for an election of delegates was issued by the officers of three organizations—the "Union General Committee," the "Union Lincoln Association," and the "Unconditional Union Central Committee,"—representing that they had united among themselves in this call, that the "Union General Committee" had declined to unite with them, and that in order to secure a just and fair representation of the Union men of this City, they had decided to order another election. Under this call, also, an election was held, and another set of delegates was duly appointed.

This is a state of things not creditable to the active Union men of this City. There is no reason in the world why these rival organizations should exist to fritter away the influence of the party, and discredit its patriotism and good faith in the eyes of the State and the country. The State Central Committee is greatly to blame for not having taken steps to prevent a recurrence of these collisions, as it was expressly authorized to do by the last Convention.

The Government and the Press.

We expressed, on Saturday, in terms sufficiently clear, our dissent from the doctrine of the Evening Post, that the right to publish forged State papers forms any part of "the liberty of the press," more especially when their publication may be attended with great damage to the National interests, and when there exists a fair warrant for the presumption that it has been dictated by malignant hostility to the Government. When a document, such as the late bogus proclamation, finds its way into a public journal, no matter by what means, somebody must be made to answer for it, whether it occurs through accident, or oversight, or design. In matters in which such gigantic mischief may be wrought, through neglect or mistake, though not as criminal as malice, is still criminal. If editors go home at three in the morning, leaving power in the hands of printers or other incompetent persons, to insert whatever comes into the office after that hour, they willfully incur a great risk; and if their incurring it results in the momentary conversion of the journal into a machine for attacks on the national credit and the public tranquillity, they must shoulder the responsibility.

If a man drives a locomotive, and chooses, for his own ease and comfort, to hand it over every day before reaching the end of the journey to a boy or a simpleton, and it runs off the track, and smashes houses on the roadside, we should not listen to him when he sought to exonerate himself from all blame by pleading the absence of all malice. Any other rule than this would destroy all sense of responsibility on the part of the conductors of the public press, and be productive, in crises like the present, of infinite mischief. And the presumption, we may add, on which the Government has acted, that the editors of the World and Journal of Commerce have published the proclamation knowingly, and with intent to deceive the public, is a strictly legal one. When a man commits an act in itself criminal, the common law imposes on him the burden of proving the absence of evil design. If I myself, or through my servant, fire a shot into a powder magazine and blow it up, it devolves on me to show that I did not do it intentionally, but through a slip of the hand, an error of the eye. Unless I do this, I am rightfully and properly held for trial as an incendiary or traitor.

It follows, from all this, that it would have been perfectly reasonable for the Government to have arrested and held the editors of the two journals which published the proclamation in close custody for trial, and punishment in case their guilt was proved. But it does not follow from it that the Government was justified in summarily suspending the publication of their papers, for this is the infliction of punishment without trial or inquiry—a thing abhorrent, not simply to the common law, but to all law, military law included. It is something condemned, not simply by the principles of our jurisprudence, but by the ordinary moral sense of every community. Even a drumhead court-martial, the rudest of all tribunals, administering the most savage of all codes, invariably takes testimony and hears the culprit in his own defence before passing sentence. To prohibit the publication of a newspaper is in reality to inflict a very heavy penalty on the proprietors, amounting, in the case of a successful journal, to many thousand dollars for every day that the order remains in force. And the fault we find with the action of the Government in its dealings with the World and Journal of Commerce is, that this penalty has been inflicted by an order from Washington without inquiry, without hearing the accused in their own defence, without, in short, any form of trial. There is no conceivable state of things, short of the bombardment of the City by an enemy, that will justify a proceeding of this sort. Granted that New-York is under martial law, the rules of common justice are as binding in the administration of this code as of any other, and it will hardly be alleged that we are living in this City without the protection of any code whatever. What ought to have been done was to arrest the editors, and, after trial and conviction, suspend the papers as a punishment. What was done was just the converse of this. The editors were left at large and the papers suspended.

The moral of all this is, that though the state of the country and the machinations of the public enemy call for very frequent and often violent departures from the established course of legal procedure, these departures ought not to be greater than is necessary; they ought not to be entered on without due deliberation and inquiry, and never under the influence of excitement. Unless these precautions are attended to, energy may very readily come to be cruelty or injustice.

THE NATIONAL BANK BILL.

Necessity of a New Basis of National Credit, and How to Get It.

Washington, D. C., Sunday, May 15, 1864.

The bill to amend the National Banking Act of last year has passed each branch of Congress, but still hangs between them upon disagreeing amendments. The two Houses are in perfect accord as to the necessity and propriety of perfecting the currency reform initiated in that measure. The only remaining difficulty lies in deciding as to the best mode of effecting this reform, so as to make it contribute in the greatest degree to strengthening the National credit, and thus sustaining the armed forces now in the field and striking crushing blows at the rebellion.

There are only two points of serious importance upon which the Senate and the House are in conflict: first, the proposition for the enactment of a uniform rate of interest upon National bank loans in all the States, instead of leaving the interest rate to be governed by local laws; and, second, the proposition relating to the manner of bank taxation. The first of these points, I believe, is considered by Secretary Chase less vitally important to the country, in a financial point of view, than the other. Still, after long and patient study of the question, he is firmly convinced that if a uniform rate of interest should be prescribed by law for the National banking system, all commercial transactions would accommodate themselves thereto; and that this would tend to uniformity everywhere, would cause a wider distribution of capital throughout the country, and a freer application of it to useful enterprizes, by reducing the rates of interest wherever they are excessive. The statement of this proposition furnishes all the argument in its support that the present opportunity will afford, and I submit that the argument is conclusive.

Upon the question of taxation, unfortunately, neither branch of Congress has met the Secretary's views. The House bill imposes no National tax whatever upon National banking associations, but leaves them to be taxed under the Internal Revenue Act, and then subjects the capital stock of the National banks to the same local taxation as the property of State corporations. On the other hand, the Senate amendment to the House bill taxes National banks one per cent. per annum on circulation, half of one per cent. per annum on deposits, and half of one per cent. per annum on their capital in excess of that invested in United States bonds. It also subjects the stock held in these associations by individuals to taxation, for State, county and municipal purposes, at the same rates as are imposed upon stock in State banks.

The radical and fatal objection to both these propositions is, that State taxation utterly destroys the value of the taxation of National banks as a basis of National credit; while the condition of the country, and the paramount importance of maintaining the Government and sustaining its armies in the field, renders it imperative that the public credit shall be strengthened by enlarging the present basis of that credit. The receipts from duties on foreign imports now constitute the only basis of National credit, so far as loans are concerned. Now, let us see how available National bank taxation may be made as an additional basis of credit, if the Secretary's well-matured views are allowed to prevail. The National banks already organized have an aggregate capital of say $60,000,000, an aggregate circulation of $20,000,000, and of United States bonds deposited in the Treasury about $30,000,000. To this we may add their average deposits, estimated at $30,000,000. If a uniform system of taxation upon this is adopted, at the rates given below, we have the following result, viz.:

2 per cent. on $20,000,000 circulation	$400,000
1 per cent. on $30,000,000 deposits	300,000
1 per cent. on $30,000,000 of capital in excess of United States Bonds	300,000
Total taxation	$1,000,000

Here we have at once added to the basis of loans (if we set this sum apart as a distinct and specific provision for the payment of interest to the same amount) $1,000,000, to be increased during the current year to at least three millions, and progressively to at least ten or fifteen millions, as the National banking system extends itself and fulfills its mission of establishing a uniform currency. The possession of this resource would so strengthen the National credit as to enable the Secretary of the Treasury to negotiate at once $100,000,000 of bonds at not exceeding five per cent., and thus would obviate the necessity for further inflation of the currency.

The simple question is, "shall this basis of National credit be destroyed?" Surely, no clear-headed and earnest man will consent to aim so serious a blow at the Government he professes to support, unless he is prepared with some other clearly better or more promptly available resource at the present time; and none such has thus far been brought forward, though the crisis is upon us. But local taxation of the National banks will destroy National taxation of the same institutions as a basis of credit, because capitalists, and especially foreign capitalists, must always be uncertain as to what the rate of State taxation will be. They will never have any assurance that local taxation will not be so great as to preclude the possibility of productive National taxation; and uncertainty is fatal to credit, and always will be while the maxim holds that "capital is timid."

What Mr. Chase desires is, not to lighten the burdens of any class of banks, but simply to prevent the distribution of the National bank tax into the several classes of National, State and municipal taxation. He desires to keep whatever these banks are to pay, all in one undivided fund, and specifically set that fund apart to be pledged for the payment of interest on the public debt, just as the coin receipts from duties on imports are pledged. What really valid objection can there be to giving the Secretary of the Treasury this basis of public credit, which he tells us his best judgment deems essential to the successful administration of that vitally important branch of the public service committed to his charge? Why should not the Committee of Conference to be appointed on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses of Congress frame a provision, (in accordance with Mr. Chase's views,) simply doubling the Senate rate of taxation of National banks for National purposes, and apply the whole amount to which these institutions are taxed, as a basis of national credit? That such a provision is the only one which can make the rate of taxation in different States at all equal, is another reason for its adoption. In the State of New-York, banking institutions are already taxed heavily for State, County and municipal purposes; while in Indiana they are taxed for State purposes only, and for those very lightly. It would be a waste of time to argue that under the system of part National and part State taxation, the burden borne by banking capital invested in National banks in Indiana is much lighter than those borne by similarly employed capital in New-York. Mr. Chase's plan will obviate this, and place all on an equal footing.

The objection is sometimes made that Mr.

CHASE's plan interferes with the "State right" of taxation. Is not this objection more imaginary than real? Surely neither the States nor the people can have any more to pay under the proposed arrangement than without it. It is a mere question of the distribution of the tax—a question whether the States shall collect part of the contribution which banks, like other property, must make for national purposes, or whether the Government itself shall be permitted to collect the whole tax in a single and more available item. In either case the aggregate amount of taxation is the same, with this exception, viz.: the plan of Mr. CHASE whereby the sum realized from exclusive national taxation is availed of as the basis of national credit, and so sustains it—reduces the cost of money to the Government, and to the same extent reduces the amount necessary to be raised by taxation in the several States for the national support and defence. Thus, in grouping, collecting and appropriating taxation of national banks under one national head, the States lose nothing but a shadow at most, while they reap the substantial advantage flowing from whatever measure tends to sustain the Government by maintaining its credit. Better give up altogether the right of taxation of real estate to the States exclusively, than have the influence and credit force of the bank tax frittered away and lost by taxing it here a little for national purposes, there a little for State, and again a little more for county or municipal purposes.

The whole country is pouring out its sacrifice of blood for the maintenance of the Republic; shall there be any hesitation to sacrifice State pride (for we have shown that there are really no substantial local interests to be injuriously affected) in a case like the present, where we have made it plain that State as well as national interests and national credit walk hand in hand? It is not proposed to withdraw the State banks from local taxation. Until they shall be organized under the national system they will hold the same place in the local assessment rolls as they do now. The only proposition is to put national banking property on the same footing with imports from foreign countries, which are taxed exclusively by the general Government, such taxes being used as a basis of national credit. Why then not yield to the earnest request of the Financial Minister of the Administration? Who, except the speculator on the necessities of his country, is to lose by it? If the States seem to lose something of their taxable basis, they recover it with interest in the reduction of the amount which their people must pay for the support of the Government and the war.

The real point of difficulty with some is the supposition that if the national bank tax is not distributed hereafter as heretofore, their constituents cannot understand why bank capital has lost its former important place on the assessment rolls. The fear is an idle one, based upon an ungenerous estimate of the popular intelligence. The people are in earnest with regard to this war. They know that it can only be carried to a successful issue by maintainance of the public credit. They will submit to any sacrifice necessary to that end; and they will listen with intelligent appreciation to the simple calculation which shows that while the bank capital, when it comes under the national system, may no longer be found on the local assessor's roll, it has not escaped its full share of taxation, but has simply been called upon to pay it under new forms, found better calculated to increase its value, and to reduce the burdens of the people by elevating the public credit.

If gentlemen in Congress will give these and kindred practical suggestions the consideration demanded by the importance of the subject, it would seem scarcely possible that they can find any difficulty, even at this late hour, in so perfecting the National Banking Bill as to insure us, in reality, an improved currency, and at the same time still further and greatly strengthen the national credit. LAUNCH OF A JAPANESE GUNBOAT.

The Japanese gunboat Puseyami was launched on Saturday from WESTERVELT's shipyard, foot of Houston-street, East River. She is two hundred and seven feet long, thirty-four feet beam, fifteen feet deep, nearly the same dimensions as our new double-enders. Having been built under the supervision of Capt. JOSEPH COMSTOCK, and her machinery being constructed under the direction of Chief Engineer GAY, late United States Navy, her success may be considered certain. She is pretty and strong, and may probably go fourteen knots an hour.

THE DOUBLE-ENDER LENAPEE.

It is reported that the boiler of this vessel burst during the cold-water test at Newburgh, where it was built. It is also reported that Mr. MARTIN and Chief Engineer ISHERWOOD have gone to Newburgh to investigate the matter. The Lenapee was built at Greenpoint. No boiler like hers has ever exploded in a New-York workshop.

Turf Record.

TROTTING AT HARTFORD, CONN.

The long expected trot between Mr. MEADE's horse Dan Mace, (long known on Long Island, as Sorrel Dan,) and Mr. BECKWITH's bay, Prince, for $5,000; the former, under saddle, and the latter, in harness—which came off at the Hartford Trotting Park, on Friday, attracted a large attendance of the trotting fraternity, as there was diversity of opinion concerning the merits of the two animals—and the interest was enhanced by the knowledge of the fact that HIRAM WOODRUFF had been specially engaged to drive Prince, while JAMES TURNER was to ride Dan. Notwithstanding it was known that Prince would be handled by a man who always drives to win, the betting was all in favor of Dan at two and three to one, and after the first heat, five and six to one was freely offered against Prince, without finding takers—the result of the match, notwithstanding HIRAM's fine driving, being a foregone conclusion. It is needless to waste time on an extended description of the heats, as they were all of the same character, Dan winning in three straight heats on his own terms.

FLORA TEMPLE.

It is announced on what is generally believed to be reliable authority, that Mr. McDONALD, the owner of the brilliant little "Queen of the Trotting Turf," has made up his mind, despite the most earnest solicitations, to retire her entirely from the turf as a contestant, and retain her entirely for breeding purposes. We are glad to hear this, for, delighted as all racing men would have been to have seen "the bay beauty" once more on the track,—her brilliant deeds have entitled her to repose in her old age,—and every one would have been grieved to have seen her untarnished name on the scroll of fame sullied by defeats, could such an event have been within the range of possibility.

The Porous Plasters of Dr. Allcock.—These Plasters are becoming every day more and more known. Any one having a pain in the back or breast, by getting one and applying, is cured at once. A gentleman only to-day called at the office, and stated that he was troubled with a bad pain in his chest, and had become perfectly cured by a single plaster. Another said the same as to rheumatism in his shoulder. The latter gentleman may be seen at No. 15 Beekman-st., New-York, up stairs. We have testimonials from many thousand doctors, all uniting in their praise, and saying that they are superior to all other plasters. Cure of a Crushed Breast—May 7, 1864—Gentlemen: In December, 1863, my breast bone was crushed and badly injured by being struck by a heavy spar. I was taken home senseless, where, for weeks, I lay at the point of death. My doctors could do but little for me, and I suffered continual pain. The doctor thought a blister-plaster would help me, if put on the breast, but I thought I would try, instead, Allcock's Porous Plaster. I put one on my breast and side, and from that time began to get better, and in one month I was well, free from pain, and able to attend to my business. Any one can call and see my breast, and I will show them a modern miracle of cure. J. R. BUCK, No. 2 South 5th-st., Williamsburgh, L. I. THOMAS ALLCOCK & CO., No. 4 Union-square. Principal office, Brandreth Building, New-York. Sold also at No. 4 Union-square, and by all dealers.

To Military Officers and Soldiers.—From Col. E. F. JONES, Mass. 26th: "With me, the use of the 'Bronchial Troches' is an absolute necessity; and I cannot understand how any officer who is called upon, by his position to use his voice in command, can succeed without them."

Morton's Gold Pens are now sold at the same prices as before the commencement of the war; this is entirely owing to the Manufacturer's improvements in machinery, his present large Retail Business and Cash-in-Advance System; for, until he commenced advertising, his business was done on Credit and strictly with the Trade.

The Morton Gold Pens are the only ones sold at old prices, as the makers of all other gold pens charge the Premium on the Gold, Government Tax, &c.; but Morton has in no case changed his prices, wholesale or retail.

Of the great numbers sent by mail to all parts of the world during the past few years, not one in a thousand has failed to reach its destination in safety; showing that the Morton Gold Pen can be obtained by any one, in every part of the world, at the same price, postage only excepted

Reader, you can have an enduring, always ready, and reliable Gold Pen, exactly adapted to your hand and style of writing, which will do your writing vastly cheaper than Steel Pens; and at the present almost universal High-Pressure Price of everything, you can have a Morton Gold Pen cheaper, in proportion to the labor spent upon it and material used, than any other Gold Pen in the World. If you want one, see "The Pen is Mightier than the Sword," in another column.

THE CASE OF HUTCHINGS, THE "LIGHTNING CALCULATOR."

There was published in these columns a few days since the remarkable cure of Hutchings, the "Lightning Calculator," so well known to the public during the many years he exhibited his wonderful arithmetical powers at Barnum's Museum, by the celebrated Oculist and Aurist, Dr. Von Eisenberg, of this City. Hutchings is represented to have been at the point of death, and but for the timely interference of the Doctor, would now be resting in his grave. This is a remarkable case, and worthy of the attention of persons similarly afflicted.

We think it is but just to Doctor Von Eisenberg to call public attention to this case. There are hundreds in the community suffering from catarrh, who, like the "Lightning Calculator," if not actually praying for death, are ready to accept of anything that promises to relieve them from their distresses. To such we would say, trifle not with inexperienced men, but consult, without unnecessary delay, Dr. Von Eisenberg, who, at least, has the honesty to assure his patients whether it is within his power to make them whole or not.

EARS TO THE DEAF.

Every man, and especially every woman, believes in his or her physician. There are philosophical minds which hold to an abstract faith in Allopathy, or Homeopathy, or Hydropathy, or some other form of scientific cure; but with the world at large the belief is not in the system, but in the doctor. Especially is this true as regards aurists and oculists. The patient who has recovered his sight or his hearing is sure that the blessing could have been restored to him by no other practitioner than that particular one by whom his eyes or ears were opened. Dr. Von Eisenberg is among our best-known aurists. He has not lent us ears as a brother practitioner has eyes, and in whose skill, therefore, we believe above all others. But we hear of him from those who esteem him not merely as a surgeon, but as a benefactor. A recent case has been related to us, for the truthfulness of which we can vouch, though we can name no names. The patient was a lady who had been deaf from infancy, as a consequence of some of the ailments to which children are liable. Latterly the disease had taken an acute form, and the patient was subject to intense suffering. The deafness was rapidly becoming complete, and the general health breaking down under the physical exhaustion attendant upon constant pain. Ordinary remedies and ordinary advice were useless, and Dr. Von Eisenberg was called in. We need not repeat his diagnosis, for that would be only a list of hard names to the general reader. But he detected at sight the seat of disease, first in one portion of the organism, then in another, and with manipulation as skillful as his insight was accurate, he removed the causes, and she who, from infancy, had heard with difficulty, and latterly hardly at all, was restored first to perfect hearing and then to perfect health. Dr. Von Eisenberg's advertisement reminds us of this case, which we thus briefly relate, though not at his solicitation. Let him that hath not ears, hear.

From the Christian Times.
SIGHT RESTORED.
CONCERNING EYES AND OCULISTS.

Of the five senses, that which we call seeing is the most important and most valued. In proportion as this sense fails us, we are reduced to helplessness. If entirely destitute of sight, how slow would be our progress in knowledge, and how limited our sphere of action and usefulness. Endowed with it, the universe becomes a new creation, clothed with beauty and diversified by that infinite variety which never fails to attract the mind and heart.

For several months past this has been a practical subject to us. An inflamed condition of the eyelids communicating itself to the pupil, rendered the discharge of daily duties not only painful, but dangerous. Attributing it to the effect of a cold, we endured it through the Spring, with the hope that with the return of warm weather it would entirely disappear. But in this we were doomed to disappointment. Summer returned, but not our wonted sight. What might have been the result, either of further neglect or of incompetent treatment, we cannot say.

Stating our case to a friend, he assured us that a similar one in his own family had recently been treated with entire success by Dr. Von Eisenberg, of this City. Satisfying ourselves by more particular inquiries that the doctor is no empiric, but a scientific oculist and aurist, we concluded to seek the benefits of his treatment, which we have now reason to acknowledge is very great. Though but a few weeks under his care, the appearance of our eyes has totally changed. The pupil is now full and clear, and the lids are entirely free from inflammation. The doctor says that the optic nerve has been weakened and the retina assumed a chronic inflammatory state, affecting more or less all the other tissues, and threatening, if neglected, to end in Amaurosis. Opthalmitis, is the term we believe, which oculists apply to eyes affected as were ours. Having obtained the much desired relief, we take great pleasure in acknowledging our indebtedness to the talent of Dr. Von Eisenberg, and of calling to it the attention of others who may be suffering from a similar or even worse condition of their eyes. It is said that Providence provides an antidote for every bane. It is certain that the eye is, in these times, subject to severer trials than formerly. Let us be thankful, then, that as we increase the tendencies which destroy the organ of vision, the progress of science keeps pace with these tendencies, if not in advance of them.

OFFICE NO 816 BROADWAY.

U. S. 10-40 BONDS.

These Bonds are issued under the Act of Congress of March 8, 1864, which provides that all Bonds issued under this act shall be BE REDEEMED IN COIN, at the pleasure of the Government, at any period not less than ten nor more than forty years from their date, and until their redemption, FIVE PER CENT. INTEREST WILL BE PAID IN COIN, on Bonds of not over one hundred dollars annually, and on all other Bonds semi-annually. The interest is payable on the first days of March and September in each year. As these Bonds, by act of Congress, are EXEMPT FROM MUNICIPAL OR STATE TAXATION, their value is increased from one to three per cent. per annum, according to the rate of tax levies in various parts of the country.

At the present rate of premium on gold they pay OVER EIGHT PER CENT. INTEREST in currency, and are of equal convenience as a permanent or temporary investment.

It is believed that no securities offer so great inducements to lenders as the various descriptions of U. S. Bonds. In all other forms of indebtedness, the faith or ability of private parties or stock companies or separate communities only is pledged for payment, while for the debts of the United States the whole property of the country is holden to secure the payment of both principal and interest in coin.

These Bonds may be subscribed for in sums from $50 up to any magnitude, on the same terms, and are thus made equally available to the smallest lender and the largest capitalist. They can be converted into money at any moment, and the holder will have the benefit of the interest.

The Funded Debt of the United States on which interest is payable in gold, on the 3d day of March, 1864, was $768,965,000. The interest on this debt for the coming fiscal year will be $45,937,126, while the customs revenue in gold for the current fiscal year, ending June 30th, 1864, has been so far at the rate of over $100,000,000 per annum.

It will be seen that even the present gold revenues of the Government are largely in excess of the wants of the Treasury for the payment of gold interest, while the recent increase of the tariff will doubtless raise the annual receipts from customs on the same amount of importations, to $150,000,000 per annum.

The authorized amount of this loan is Two Hundred Million Dollars. Instructions to the National Banks acting as loan agents were not issued until March 26, but the amount of Bonds reported sold at the United States Treasury up to May 21 was $54,564,900.

Subscriptions will be received by the TREASURER OF THE UNITED STATES at Washington, and the ASSISTANT TREASURERS at New-York, Boston and Philadelphia, and by the

BEING A TREATISE ON THE CHRISTIAN LIFE IN ITS TWO CHIEF ELEMENTS, DEVOTION AND PRACTICE.
BY
EDWARD MEYRICK GOULBURN, D. D.,
Prebendary of St. Paul's, Chaplain to the Bishop of Oxford, and one of Her Majesty's Chaplains in Ordinary.
First American from the Fifth London Edition.
WITH A PREFATORY NOTE,
BY
GEORGE H. HOUGHTON, D. D.,
Rector of the Church of the Transfiguration in the City of New-York.
1 vol., 12mo, 430 pages. Price $1 50.

It is a treatise marked by great comprehensiveness of subject; strong, practical sense; vigor and beauty of style; fullness and felicity of illustration, and thorough warmth and spirituality of tone. Its words are, most truly, wholesome words—even the words of our Lord Jesus Christ—and its doctrines, so sound and moderate withal, is according to godliness. (I. Tim., vi. 3.) There is nothing in it that is dry, uninteresting, unreal, extravagant, impracticable, or beyond ordinary reach and compass. It is full of stimulus and full of encouragement. It is a manual not so much, perhaps, for those who have abundant leisure and lead a retired life, as for those, especially, who are engaged in the ordinary avocations of the world. It will teach them how, while living in the world—amid its cares and perplexities—to live above the world; while not slothful in business, to be fervent in spirit, serving the Lord; in one word, how to sanctify the secular, all-engrossing pursuit and the daily toil.

THE MOST REMARKABLE STATE PAPERS OF MODERN TIMES.
From Horace Greeley's Article in the Tribune.

Mr. Henry J Raymond has rendered the American public a real service by compiling a "History of the Administration of President Lincoln, including his Speeches, Letters, Addresses, Proclamations and Messages, with a preliminary sketch of his Life," forming a neat octavo volume of 496 pages. Just issued by Derby & Miller, No. 5 Spruce-st. Politicians of all classes will find the book exceedingly convenient for reference. * * * * When we state that the chief value of this work for the politicians inheres in the documents it embodies, we state only what the author, we are sure, would heartily assent to. But it is, moreover, a well arranged, readable, interesting book, which every one interested in our country's welfare may read with pleasure and profit. We bespeak for it a prompt and general circulation.

One volume, 12mo, with a fine steel portrait. Price $1 50.

No. 823 BROADWAY, NEW-YORK, May 16, 1864.

THE FOLLOWING COPY OF A LETTER from Gen. ASBOTH to the Agent of the United States Sanitary Commission at New-Orleans, in regard to the very destitute condition of the wives and children of the Union men of Florida, speaks for itself. As such disposition of its funds, the providence of the Commission, special contributions for the relief of these women and children whose husbands and fathers are in the Union army, will be received at the office of the Commission, and dispensed by the agent at Pensacola. Clothing, such as dresses for women and children, under-clothing, &c., should be marked, "For Florida Unionists," and be sent to the supply depot of the Commission, at No. 10 Cooper Union, New-York:

HEADQUARTERS DISTRICT OF PENSACOLA,
BARRANCAS, 24th April, 1864.

SIR: I beg to state that there are at this place over six hundred, and at East Pass near two hundred destitute women and children, entirely dependent on the United States Government for support. To prevent starvation, I have, in accordance with War Department General Order No. 30, current series, directed the Commissary of Subsistence to issue rations to them, and sheltered them with condemned tents, but the limited means at my disposal are inadequate for the daily increasing number, and an application to Department Headquarters for medical assistance having been disapproved, much additional suffering must ensue during the coming sickly season among these unfortunate victims of the rebellion, unless immediate steps are taken in their behalf.

I would therefore request, in the name of humanity, that an assistant agent of the United States Sanitary Commission be sent here to assist in providing for their urgent wants.

I am, Sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

ASBOTH, Brig.-Gen.

Dr. BLAKE, Agent United States Sanitary Commission, New-Orleans.

STATE OF NEW-YORK,
OFFICE OF THE PAYMASTER-GENERAL,
ALBANY, May 9, 1864.

FOR WANT OF LIKE FACILITIES AS as were afforded me in the Northern and Western Divisions, the men enlisted under the recent calls in the Southern Division of the State (comprising the first ten Congressional Districts) were obliged, most of them, to go to the field without the State bounty. Widows and others, residing in New-York City and its vicinity, having claims on this office, will, if they call on Maj. ROBERT BENSON, JR., No. 7 State-street, New-York City, have their papers arranged and forwarded, FREE OF EXPENSE.

SYNOPSIS OF SCENERY.

SCENE 1.—Exterior of the Jolly Brigand—A Carbineer's Carol—Fashionable Arrivals—3,000 francs Reward for the Capture of Fra Diavolo—Arrival of Fra Diavolo, in the costume of the fast young man of the period—Matteo has a full house, like many others, but full of Orders—Sudden Appearance of Unprepossessing Strangers—Extraordinary instance of Brute Taming by F. Diavolo (not Rarey's plan)—Jealousy, Jewelry and Joy—Restitution, Revenge and Rage—Drinking Song from "Puritan's Daughter," Mrs. W. J. Florence.

Scene 2.—Another Evil, consequence of the grain strike—Beppo possessed of an iron will, and Giacomo proves the legacy—Grand Broadsword Combat—Operatic Selection.

"Pop Goes his Weasand."

Scene 3.—Zerlina's Chamber—Mr. Florence and Himself—Case of cupboard admiration—Zerlina indulges in a song, a soliloquy and a pass seul—The sword that hangs above her head prevented from falling by a single air—Disgraceful appearance of the brigand—Sudden appearance of a nobleman in a night cap.

Scene 4.—Another part of the premises—N. B.—This scene is introduced for the domestic felicity of Lord and Lady Allcash, who become reconciled to their own home (as it hoped) to the public's satisfaction.

Scene 5.—Lager Gardens at the Jolly Brigand—Grand Ballet of Female Sharpshooters—The Manager begs to state that he is well aware that brigands have no right to be in this scene, but being a very pretty troupe, having a great desire to show their dresses, and as a ballet must appear somewhere in a burlesque, he thought that he would introduce them in this situation—Diavolo himself again—Rejective addresses—Beppo recognizes the Barkeeper—Grand Pas de Recollect—Beppo and Giacomo—Uncomfortable position of the robbers—Diavolo's descent on the "Inn" foiled—Lorenzo and soldiers throw themselves on Fra Diavolo, who throws himself on the indulgence of a kind public—the old story you know.

MUSICAL.

CHICKERING & SONS
MANUFACTURERS OF GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT PIANO-FORTES, No. 652 BROADWAY.—The superiority of these instruments has of late been amply demonstrated by the voluntary testimony of the foremost artists of the day, who claim for them excellencies of tone and workmanship hitherto unobtained by any other makers.

Mr. GOTTSCHALK'S constant use of the NEW SCALE CHICKERING GRAND PIANO-FORTES has severely tested their musical qualities, and resulted in establishing the justice of the very flattering estimation in which they are held.

STEINWAY & SONS'
GOLD MEDAL GRAND AND SQUARE PIANOS are now considered the best in Europe as well as this country, having received the first Prize Medal at the World's Exhibition in London, 1862.

The principal reason why the Steinway Pianos are superior to all others, is, that the firm is composed of five practical pianoforte makers, (father and four sons,) who invent all their own improvements, and under whose personal supervision every part of the instrument is manufactured. Warerooms, Nos. 71 and 73 East 14th-st., between Union-square and Irving-place, New-York.

BRADBURY'S
GOLD MEDAL
NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTES,
after thorough and repeated tests by GOTTSCHALK, MASON, MILLS, SANDERSON, FRADEL, MORGAN, HELLER, TIMM, PATTERSON, and many others of the most competent judges, are pronounced "superior in power, purity, richness and quality of tone and thoroughness of workmanship." See their letter in my last circular. Seven First Premiums, including two Gold Medals, were received by Mr. Bradbury within four weeks, at the State fairs; and at the American Institute of 1863, "for the BEST PIANO-FORTE, A GOLD MEDAL." Warerooms No. 427 Broome-st., one block east of Broadway.

MASON & HAMLIN'S CABINET ORGANS, FOR FAMILIES, CHURCHES AND SCHOOLS—Recognized by the musical profession as greatly superior to Harmoniums, Melodeons and all other small organs. [See our illustrated catalogue for explicit testimony to their superiority, from a majority of the most eminent organists in America.] Prices, $85 to $500 each.

CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.—The great reputation which our Cabinet Organs have obtained, and the extensive demand for them, have induced dealers to advertise, in some cases, quite different instruments as Cabinet Organs, and in others to represent to purchasers that Harmoniums and other reed organs are the same thing. This is not true. The excellences of our Cabinet Organs, which have given them their high reputation, are the result not merely of the superiority of their workmanship, but also, in large measure, of essential differences in construction, which, being patented, cannot be imitated by other makers. From these arise their better quality and volume of tone and unrivaled capacity for expression. Warerooms in New-York, No. 7 Mercer-st.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, May 22.

The Richmond papers of the 19th inst., claim a great victory over SIGEL at New-Market, and say they would have captured his army had it not been for our cavalry. According to their accounts SIGEL ran twenty miles without stopping, abandoning his hospitals, burning trains, &c.

These papers state their losses at 20,000 in the battles with the Army of the Potomac, but claim a victory every time.

They acknowledge losing twenty guns, but are silent as to the number of prisoners.

Trains were running to Guinney's Station during last week.

CORRECTION.—In the TIMES of April 17, a paragraph appeared, copied from a Canadian paper, stating that Hon. A. T. GALT, of Quebec, had been defrauded of $2,000 by his agent, Mr. MACHIN, with whom a blank check had been left to be filled up for some small amount. This, we are informed, was entirely incorrect. A clerk in Mr. MACHIN's employ perpetrated the fraud, and Mr. MACHIN himself was in noway responsible for it. Mr. MACHIN is a prominent business man in Portland, Me., and where he is known the mistake alluded to above could do no him injury. The correction would have followed the original misstatement more promptly had our attention been called to it earlier.

THE FORGED PROCLAMATION—RUMORED ARREST OF BANKERS AND BROKERS.—There were rumors throughout the City yesterday that several prominent merchants, bankers and brokers had been arrested and sent to Fort Lafayette for having been interested with HOWARD in the preparation and circulation of the forged proclamation. We learn, however, from an authentic source, that the rumor is without foundation.

Personal.

Maj.-Gen. WALLACE announces the result of the court-martial recently convened in Baltimore for the trial of Maj. GEORGE THISTLETON, of the First Maryland Cavalry, that he was found guilty of the charge of "being in the habit of associating intimately and publicly with infamous women and prostitutes during the past winter and this spring, so as to bring disgrace upon himself and the service, and to subject his encampment to scenes disgusting and disreputable to his regiment," and that the sentence of the court is that he "be dismissed the service."

AMERICAN ARTISTS IN ROME.—An American in Rome writes to a friend in Boston about the late undertakings of some of the American artists in that city, as follows:

"Miss HOSMER is engaged on a group of a Sleeping Fawn, whom a faunetto (young faun) is tying to the stump of a tree. It is a charming composition, full of spirit and character, and will greatly increase her reputation. The attack upon Miss HOSMER in the Art Journal and the Queen was infamous, but she will live it down.

TILTON is painting some beautiful landscapes, and is, I am most happy to find, laden with orders.

STORY has remodelled his Cleopatra, making many changes and improvements. Keeping to the same general conception, he has worked it out to a more elaborate and artistic completeness, embodying, as I think, all his artistic growth of the five years which have elapsed since the production of the first Cleopatra. He has also modeled a bust of Mrs. BROWNING from memory, for her brother, which he has succeeded in rendering pleasing without losing the characteristic likeness. This artist's "Saul" is going on rapidly, and is to go to London with Judith this week. His Bacchus and Venus follow shortly to the same destination."

SALE OF THE SUSSEX RAILROAD.—The Sussex Railroad Company sold their road on Tuesday last to Mr. WM. E. DODGE, of the firm of PHELPS, DODGE & Co., New-York. Messrs. SCRANTON, BLAIR and others, connected with the Delaware and Lackawanna Road, we understand, are connected with Mr. DODGE in the purchase of the road. They intend to extend the road to Franklin Furnace this season, and eventually to Warwick—a charter having been granted for this purpose by the Legislature last Winter. The stock of the Sussex Road was owned entirely by the President and Directors, for which they received $175,000. Mr. AARON PECK, the President, was the principal owner. The original cost of the road was $400,000—on which there remains a mortgage of $200,000. The trains will be run and business transacted as heretofore.—Sussex True Democrat.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY—ARREST OF THE GUILTY PARTY.—DAVID RYAN, who says he is a laborer and a native of Ireland, was arrested about 10 o'clock on Saturday evening, charged with highway robbery. The complainant in the case is Mr. JOHN JOURDAN, who states that he was passing up Third-avenue, about 10 o'clock on Saturday evening, when he was accosted by RYAN, who asked him where he was going, and where his money was. To this Mr. JOURDAN replied, "None of your business," and at the same moment he placed his hand in his pocket and took hold of his wallet, when RYAN seized his arm, and by a dexter movement drew his hand out, and grabbing the wallet ran away, JOURDAN followed crying, "Stop thief," and officer HYLAND, of the Fifteenth Precinct, took RYAN into custody. He was conveyed before Justice DODGE, at Jefferson Market Court, who committed him in default of $2,000 bail.

FIRE IN A HOTEL—DAMAGE, $2,500.—About 4 o'clock, yesterday morning, a fire was discovered in the basement of the Maison Dorée, situated at No. 42 East Thirteenth street, opposite Union-square, and occupied by FRANCIS MARTINEZ. The damage to the building is about $1,000, and to furniture and fixtures something over $1,500. The proprietor, MARTINEZ, is insured for $75,000; $5,000 in each of the following companies: Bowery, North American, State of Pennsylvania, Phœnix, Mutual, of Philadelphia, Greenwich, of New-York, Merchants', Mechanics' and Traders', Etna, of New-York, Empire City, Washington, Manhattan, Franklin, of Philadelphia, Humboldt, Park and Corn Exchange Insurance Companies. The building is owned by Messrs. HOUGHWAOT & Co., of Broadway.

AN ALLEGED RECEIVER OF STOLEN GOODS CAUGHT.—PHILIP HESS, shoe-dealer, was arrested by Detective ROACH on the charge of receiving $3,000 worth of stolen dry goods. A short time since the store of Messrs. EVERITT & BAILY, dry goods merchants, doing business at Orange, N. J., was broken open by burglars, and a large quantity of property was stolen. The burglars were arrested, tried and sentenced to fifteen years in the States Prison, at Trenton. The stolen property was traced to HESS in this City, who is known to the police as an old offender. Two other charges are pending against him. Justice SHANDLEY committed him in default of $1,000 bail. Thirty pieces of the stolen goods were found in the possession of HESS.

STABBING AFFRAY IN MONROE-STREET.—A party of rowdies, the most of whom were intoxicated, met in Monroe-street at an early hour yesterday morning, when an altercation ensued, and CORNELIUS V. C. MCKINLEY was stabbed in the left side by some one unknown. The assailants made their escape. The wounded man was taken to the New-York Hospital, where his wound was pronounced serious. No clue to the guilty parties has yet been ascertained.

FIRE AT THE MAISON DOREE.—A fire occurred about 4 o'clock yesterday morning in the building known as the Maison Dorée, in Union-square, which resulted in a damage to building and furniture of about $1,000. The furniture is insured in various City companies for about $25,000.

EXPLOSION IN A PYROTECHNIC ESTABLISHMENT.—The pyrotechnic factory of Mr. HUGH O'RORKE, situated on Dekalb-avenue, near Steuben-street, was destroyed by an explosion on Saturday, about 11 o'clock A. M. Five persons were employed in the building, but all succeeded in making their escape unhurt. The explosion made a report as loud as a large cannon. This is the second time this establishment has been destroyed within a few years. The damage amounts to about $800. No insurance. The accident was caused by the ignition of a pot of sealing-wax.

THE DRAFT IN BROOLYYN.—The draft for the Second Congressional District was in progress before Provost-Marshal MADDOX, on Saturday, at his headquarters, in Williamsburgh. The Tenth and Fourteenth Wards were drawn, after which an adjournment was had until this (Monday) forenoon, when the drawing for the Twelfth, Fourteenth and Sixteenth Wards will be proceeded with. Very little interest is manifested by the public.

THE BOGUS PROCLAMATION.—FRANCIS A. MALLISON, the Williamsburgh reporter for the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, was arrested in the Eastern District on Saturday, by Officer GUISCHARD, of the Forty-fifth Precinct, on the charge of treason, having, as alleged, been implicated with JOSEPH HOWARD, Jr., in manufacturing the recent bogus proclamation of the President of the United States. Mr. MALLISON was taken to Fort Lafayette the same afternoon.

INQUEST.—Coroner BARRETT, of Brooklyn, Eastern District, concluded an inquest on Saturday on the body of an infant which had been found buried in the cellar of a house at Greenpoint. It was proved to be an illegitimate child, the mother of whom was formerly of respectable standing. The jury rendered a verdict that the body was in a too far state of decomposition to enable them to decide whether it was born alive or dead.

THE DRAFT IN THE SECOND CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.—The draft in the Second Congressional District will be continued this morning. Operations will commence at 9 o'clock A. M., when the Twelfth Ward will be taken up.

FIRE.—A fire occurred in the upper story of No. 79 Butler-street on Saturday night, caused by a window-curtain coming in contact with a gas-jet. Damage slight.

NEW-JERSEY.

HUDSON COUNTY COURT.—In the Hudson County Court, on Saturday, three young men, named WM. MCMULLEN, THOS. MORTON and JAS. RODGERS, were convicted of breaking into the office of Mr. C. H. O'NEILL, in Jersey City, and blowing open the iron safe. They were remanded by Judge OGDEN for sentence.... WM. IRWIN and PALLET, two young men residing in Jersey City, were put on trial for robbing a returned soldier near the railroad depot in Jersey City. At the conclusion of the evidence the case was adjourned until this (Monday) morning.

THE DRAFT IN HUDSON COUNTY.—The draft for the Fifth Congressional District of New-Jersey, comprising the City of Newark and Hudson County, will commence this (Monday) morning. The drawing will take place at Newark, under the supervision of Provost-Marshal Capt. E. N. MILLER. "Blind Billy," the news-man in Jersey City, has been selected to draw the names from the wheel. Jersey City lacks less than 200 men to fill her quota on all the calls.

ATTEMPT TO STAB AN OFFICER.—About 12 o'clock on Friday night, Officer HARNEY, of the Jersey City Police, attempted to arrest a sailor named JOHN LEONARD, who was conducting himself in a very disorderly manner, when the latter drew a large carving-knife and made several attempts to stab the officer, who finally succeeded in knocking him down with his club, and then conveyed him to the station. The accused was committed for trial.

AMUSEMENTS.

The season draws slowly but steadily to a close. It lingers somewhat longer this year than last, but the signs are distinct, and any augur may read them. In a few weeks the theatres will be handed over to such "stars" as have a provincial reputation, and whose patrons, coming into the City by every train, may be expected to patronize them. Then will it be impossible for the critic who knows his regular audience, to recognize a single face. He will leave the place of amusement with a feeling that is not far from being akin to pain. Precisely what is to be done at the various theatrical establishments of the City is so far unknown. It seems probable, however, that two or three of the principal establishments will, with shortened sail, endeavor to weather the storm. Judging from present indications the danger is great, but "hope springs eternal" in the managerial breast.

The announcements for to-night are quite interesting, and sufficient to attract large audiences to all our leading establishments. Novelty is proffered on every hand. At the Olympic Theatre a new English piece, by an able dramatist, Mr. WATTS PHILLIPS, is announced for the first time. It is called "Paul's Return," and has the merit, at all events, of introducing an extremely powerful caste. The success of the drama, too, in London, would promise a recognition of its merits here. At the Winter Garden Mr. and Mrs. FLORENCE, who have tried, without much success, to regalvanize the "Ticket-of-Leave-Man," return to their agreeable style of comic entertainment. They bring out BYRON's funny version of "Fra Diavolo," and play also the uproarious farce called "Thrice Married." New scenery and dresses have been prepared for the first-named piece, and the indications are favorable to its becoming the light comicality of the season. At Wallack's Theatre, there is a rapid change of programme. To-night "Wild Oats" will be played, and on every subsequent evening another play of the old school—except when "Rosedale," with its bright incidents and quick action, takes the place on the programme. At Niblo's Garden, the new melo-drama of "Bel Demonio" has but just entered on its success, and will, of course, be repeated so long as the masses approve that sort of thing. Mlle. VESTVALI plays a leading part in it, and we are sorry to say that on Wednesday or Thursday last she nearly came to grief. A perfectly superfluous situation compels her to jump from a promontory to a place below. The nerve with which she performed this feat always "brought down the house," and, in fact, contributed largely to her success in the character which she sustained. On Wednesday last the wires which ought to support her were treacherous. Three in number they broke one after another, and the lady was landed abruptly on the mattress that had fortunately been provided for such an emergency. We are happy to say that Mlle. VESTALI was not injured, and still more happy to say that a "dummy" has since been substituted in her place. Such perilous feats are a disgrace to the drama; to the place in which they are performed, and to the public that tolerate them. At Barnum's Museum, this afternoon will be revived BOUCICAULT's drama of "Janet Pride," which some of our readers may remember as having been originally played at BURTON's Chambers-street Theatre. It is an excellent sensational drama of the "Ticket of Leave" kind, and is more worthy of reproduction than many pieces played here and elsewhere.

In the musical way there is barely a twig stirring. Rumor had it that Mr. MARETZEK contemplated a few farewell performances—on a mutual insurance principle—for some of the artists who were formerly connected with him. But there seems—as usual—to have been ridiculous demands on the part of the artists which Mr. MARETZEK could not accede to. He is obstinate in these matters. Years ago he discovered that artists must do what he wants; not that he must do what they want. Can we blame him for still desiring to manage his own affairs in the way that he thinks best? Whether we do so or not it is probable that he will go on his way rejoicing—for this brief season of four performances was more a matter of kindliness with him than of profit. It was intended to introduce for the last time Messrs. BRIGNOLI and SUSINI, who have engagements, it is said, in Europe. In combination with these artists a new prima donna (mezzo-soprano) was to have made her début. Report speaks favorably of the lady, but she will, we presume, bide her time, and win the favor that is thus for a moment denied to her.

Looming over things musical is Ex-Manager GRAU, who is now on his way to the Metropolis with a complete operatic troupe, and with a Western relish for what is daring and risky. He comes as a skirmisher, and will probably harass the ranks of the enemy, but how and where remains to be seen.

The Holman Operatic Troupe, composed of children, will commence operations at Hope Chapel to-night.

At the Broadway Theatre there is an entire change of programme. The heavy drama did not succeed there; lighter pieces are therefore placed on the programme. Important alterations have been made in the company, to give effect to this change. To-night, CHARLES GAYLER's "American Cousin at Home," will be played, with Mr. CHANFRAU, Miss FANNY BROWN, Mr. SEYMOUR, Mr. MARTIN, and Mr. BONIFACE in the caste.

The vocal prodigy, little CLARA FISHER, has arrived. Her first concert takes place on Thursday next, at Niblo's Saloon.

The Fire King, of whom we have already written, makes his first appearance before the public, at Jones' Wood, on Wednesday next.

Mr. and Mrs. VANDENHOFF will give their last reading at Dodworth's Saloon, to-morrow evening.

FALLON's Stereopticon—the best ever seen in this country—is now in the full tide of prosperity at Irving Hall.

HELLER's success is so great, that programme No. 1 has to be repeated for one week longer. Any programme would suffice with such a witty and amusing exponent.

It also beautifies the complexion, removing all tan, pimples and freckles, leaving the skin soft and white. For sale by all druggists.

WILLCOX & GIBBS' SEWING MACHINE.—The design (which, curiously enough, forms a perfect letter G, the initial of one of the inventors, GIBBS,) being well adapted to the requirements of a sewing machine, as it gives the greatest possible space under the arm, and the works, being all above the stand, are, therefore, easily oiled and cleaned. Owing to the peculiar construction of the working parts, the machine is rendered perfectly noiseless.—Scientific American, Nov. 28, 1863.

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH.

No. 23 FORSYTH-ST., NEW-YORK, Oct. 1, 1863.

Dr. Von Eisenberg:

DEAR SIR: Without recapitulating the numerous benefits I have received through your wonderful cure of the deafness I have labored under many years, the blessings I enjoy will convince the most skeptical.

I have tried many aurists, in Europe and America, without success. I was still deaf as a post.

Three years ago I entered your office, underwent one operation, hoping, yet doubting, I should receive any relief, but was agreeably disappointed in finding the genius of your profession.

The innate skill you possess cured my deafness in one almost painless operation.

The joy I experienced was indescribable; 'twas a new life to me.

My hearing is perfect to this day.

I strongly advise all who are suffering under a difficulty of hearing, or total deafness, to consult you immediately, as I also personally recommend all who apply to me. The numerous calls trespass on my time and patience, yet, remembering my own long, weary affliction causes me to pity them.

This is not written to advertise your well-known, unrivaled reputation—that would be peurile; but as a measure of precaution, to induce all to call on you at once, without troubling me; yet I do not refuse to see any one who comes to me. This is the only way I can show my gratitude.

I also call the attention of those who are suffering from Catarrh, which disease I have labored under one year or more.

I experienced difficulty in breathing, langour, heaviness over the eyes, a sense of tightness on the brain, and copious expectorations of a hard and viscid nature. Accompanying this is a "polypus," quite filling the right nostril. On the 25th ult. you operated on both, killing the polypus, which is gradually passing away, and giving me great relief from the Catarrh. One more operation will effectually cure.

This testimonial brings with it my unalloyed and grateful thanks, with but a poor delineation of your wondrous skill as an Aurist.

I am, Sir, yours very gratefully,
EDWARD TEMPLE HARRISON.

RECENT TESTIMONIALS.

CATARRH CURED.

FROM REV. FRED. S. JEWELL,
PROFESSOR OF THE STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, ALBANY, N. Y.

This may certify that I have been, since 1844, subject to violent periodical attacks of catarrh, marked by a highly inflamed condition of the lining membrane of the cavities of the head, producing a most distressing species of headache, for days at a time, wholly incapacitating me from business, and, during the paroxysms, confining me to the bed. In some instances the inflammation has extended to the teeth, occasioning toothache; to the throat, producing hoarseness and partial loss of voice; and twice it has so affected the left eye as to confine me for a month or more to a darkened room. These attacks have been accompanied by strong febrile symptoms; by stoppages of the head, and in the first stages by watery discharges from the nose, and subsequently becoming acrid and yellow, and, toward the close of the attack, becoming bloody and purulent. I have tried medicines of almost every kind; external applications to the head, such as camphor, ginger, hot vinegar, snuffs of some half dozen kinds, and other catarrhal preparations, together with internal remedies, such as alteratives, cathartics and emetics. These have produced no change in the occurrence or character of the disease, and, in most cases with little or no temporary relief. I had come, at length, to believe the disease to be practically beyond either cure or material alleviation.

Under these circumstances, I was led, some five months ago, to make a trial of Dr. Lighthill's treatment. His method at once approved itself to my judgment as simple, philosophical, and likely to be effective. Notwithstanding the disadvantages under which he labored in dealing with a disease of such long standing, aggravated by nervous debility and dyspepsia, and constantly induced by the accidents of my professional labor, I found the treatment reaching the disease as it had never been reached before, and producing such a modification and alleviation of its character as I had supposed impossible. I chronicle the result thus:

Although I have been situated several times so that I should formerly have believed a severe attack of my catarrh inevitable, I have escaped thus far; the symptoms of threatened attack have been very light, and have yielded to the remedies employed by Dr. Lighthill, without the need of recourse to the old hot fermentations or emetics, and the discharges from the head have resumed the original and natural condition. That I have been able to obtain so material a relief is to me a cause of gratitude. In that alone I am repaid for whatever the treatment may have cost me.

I make this statement unsolicited, as a means of acknowledging my obligations to Dr. Lighthill's method of treating catarrh, and with a view to aid any who may have suffered from that disease in forming a just opinion of its merits, and its probable utility in their own case.

FREDERICK S. JEWELL.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 14, 1864.

REMARKABLE CURE OF DEAFNESS.

From Rev. Joseph M. Clarke, Rector of St. James' Church.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 20, 1864.

I have been deaf in one ear ever since I was in College, some twenty years ago. By the skill of Dr. Lighthill, its hearing was entirely restored, so that now I hear alike with both ears, and I find that I can use my voice with much more ease and comfort than before.

JOSEPH M. CLARKE.

From the Rev. John Nott, D. D., Professor in Union College, Schenectady.

Since I first publicly acknowledged the great benefits which I received from the skillful treatment of Dr. Lighthill, in regard to my hearing, letters of inquiry have incessantly poured upon me from all parts of the country, from parties desiring to learn the particulars of my case, and I am indeed surprised at the number of individuals who are affected similar to the manner in which I have been, and, therefore, feel it more and more a sacred duty which I owe to these sufferers, to direct them to a proper and reliable source to obtain the benefit they so much covet, and which so many afflicted ones have hitherto sought in vain, just as I had done previous to applying to Dr. Lighthill.

I had from infancy one very deaf ear, which always discharged more or less offensive matter, and was the source of the greatest annoyance and discomfort to me. Last year the other ear also became diseased, and both ears discharged a yellow matter, very profuse and highly offensive. My hearing became very much impaired, and the discharge produced the greatest debility of body and depression of spirits. I applied to my family physician and other practitioners, without deriving any benefit, and almost despaired of being restored to health, when, providentially, I applied to Dr. Lighthill. Under his treatment my ears began to improve at once, and continued to do so until, in a comparatively short time, both ears were healed, the discharge removed, and my hearing restored. At first I feared the cure would not be permanent, or that the stoppage of a discharge of so long standing might prove detrimental to my general health—a fear which I find a great many entertain in regard to the removal of discharge from the ear. My experience, however, has proved conclusively that my apprehensions were entirely groundless in both respects, for both ears are as well, and my hearing is as good at present, as the day I left off treatment, and the stoppage of discharge instead of proving detrimental to my health, has given the highest elasticity and vigor to my body, and a flow of spirits not experienced for a long time previous.

I wish that the above might serve as a general answer to the interested, but should one or the other desire to apply to me personally, or by letter, I will cheerfully satisfy reasonable demands upon my time.

I avail myself of this opportunity of again publicly expressing my deeply-felt gratitude to Dr. Lighthill, whom I esteem as a gentleman and a man of science, in whom the highest confidence may be placed. JOHN NOTT.

References to parties of the highest respectability residing in the City, who have been cured of Deafness, Catarrh, &c., may be had on application.
